

“And that’s all we’ve got time for right now, my love.” Your partner said, as you blinked, awakening from trance. You met their gaze, feeling a need in your heart. A hunger. You wanted more trance. They smirked. “What’s wrong? Missing it already?” They asked.

You nodded. “More than anything.”

“Well, you’ll have to wait, we need to leave in twenty minutes.”

“But – please? Maybe just a little more?” You couldn’t keep the pleading tone out of your voice.

“Much as I love to hear you beg, sweetie, the answer is no. We don’t have time.”

“Mmm... Okay.” You held back your disappointment.

“Hey, toy... That desire isn’t an accident. I knew we’d need to finish early. So... I’ve left you wanting more. Needing more. It’ll grow over the course of the night. Until by the time we’re home, you’ll really be begging.”
