

The air was filled with a soft buzzing, and the sound of your moans. Pleasure was overwhelming you, and for every moment that passed, you were drowning in a haze of bliss. "Has your brain switched off yet, pet?" Your partner asked, leaning down over you.

Their hands held the toy fast between your legs, spread wide by the ropes holding you to the bed. "We both know that pleasure makes you stupid. Makes it hard to think. So just keep sinking into it. We both know you want to be dumb, and mindless, and horny."

Your hips bucked as the toy brought another wave of pleasure rolling through you. Your moans receded for a moment, becoming whimpers. Your eyes darted, before your gaze settled on their face. They were smiling. But it wasn't the soft, sweet, loving smile that they usually word.

No, this smile was more intense. A self-satisfied grin, eager. "Each moment of bliss blanks your brain, pet. Pleasure makes you stupid." The toy buzzed. You whined, as your brain crumbled. Falling away into hazy, mindless bliss. "That's a good pet. Dumb, mindless, horny."

Your eyes had rolled up in your head as the pleasure became more intense. You felt the edge approaching. Your moans returned, quicker, your breathing laboured. Your partner must have noticed the change, they pulled the toy back, causing your hips to buck again.

"Ah, ah, ah, sweetness. We're not here to make you cum. We want you blank, and brainless, and pleasure filled." They brought the toy between your legs again. "That's it. Once we've got you really stupid, we'll get you making some decisions. But don't worry, I'll help you decide."
