Doctor's log - Oct 5th - 7:32pm

The patient was rushed through the ER with minor bruises and cuts. At the time she was having a psychotic episode and saying her body was burning when no such signs of burns showed on her body. Eventually she had to be restrained as she continued to get more violent and hysterical. Nurses took her vitals and everything seemed fine. We will conduct more tests and try to find out who she is.

Doctor's log - Oct 5th - 9:28pm

The patient has been screaming for the past 2 hours while continuing to be hysterical. We finally found who she was. Daniella Summers. According to a nurse, she is a famous influencer on some app. We are continuing to monitor her and will use anesthesia if needed.

Doctor's log - Oct 5th - 10:08pm

Daniella has finally calmed down and is coherent. We think this may have been a drug induced episode. We will run more tests.

Doctor's log - Oct 5th - 12:13pm

I have no words for what I just witnessed... After Daniella was calm and we were questioning her, it seems her libido sky rocketed as she started touching herself and flirting with me and the nurses. I thought I was hallucinating, I watched as Daniella's skin began to morph. Arms began to slowly grow out of her sides and her hip began to split. The nurses were freaking out, but Daniella seemed to be enjoying it. We had no idea what to do as this was unfolding, so one of the nurses applied an anesthesia so we could move her to one of the hospital basement rooms. I have called and alerted the FBI as I have no idea what is happening. Is she an alien? A monster? All I have on my mind right now is worrying about my staff's and patient's safety.

Doctor's log - Oct 6th - 2:38am

We are still awaiting for the FBI to show up. Daniella woke up and went into a lustful berserk and began licking, and rubbing against everyone. She grabbed on to all the nurses with her arms, trying to pull them close to kiss them. We then noticed that her tongue had now split and was longer than it was earlier. Then, the unthinkable happened. Her tail bone began extending and she grew two long tails with penises at the end. Her tails began flailing around as she was trying to point them at my staff. At this moment we knew our best option was to apply the anesthesia again. We have now tied up her arms, legs and tails.

Doctor's log - Oct 6th - 3:22am

The anesthesia did not last long at all, she has already woken up and continues to be on a lustful berserk. All we could do was watch through the windows as we waited. As she continued flailing around we noticed as her breasts began getting bigger. As they grew out, more began to form below her breasts and they wouldn't stop. Soon enough, she had breasts protruding from all over her body. I knew from this point that this was way out of my league of expertise.

Doctor's log - Oct 6th - 4:11am

FBI and government officials have finally arrived. They asked me and the nurses a lot of questions and wanted all her medical documents. There was one question that concerned me though from the FBI woman in the lab coat. Something about if we checked on any of her liquid levels. I assured her that all we did was take her vitals and some basic testing. She seemed relieved? I watched as she went into the room, touching and examining her. Shortly after she told us Daniella would be moved to the Medical Research Facility for further testing and research. I was concerned as nothing was ever mentioned about contacting relatives. I was cut off from all further questions and was asked to leave. Never in my life I thought I would go through such an experience like this. It felt so surreal.

Doctor's log - Oct 7th - 7:05am

I was contacted by the government just moments ago. They said that I was to say nothing about what happened or face repercussions. They threatened my job and even being able to stay in the country. I hope that Daniella-

Researcher's log - Oct 8th - 12:22pm

We seized everything the doctor had. Research notes, logs, all of it. We could not let this come out to the public, so we couldn't risk any chances. The doctor has been sent to another country for now until this all boils over. It's so fascinating to see a human body that can morph and shape itself over and over again. You think there would be some sort of cap to it. For now, my top priority is to get to the bottom of this anomaly.

Researcher's log - Oct 8th - 4:08pm

I spent more time with Daniella. She seems to still be stuck in a permanent psychosis of her libido being at extreme levels. Since she has been here she has grown more breasts, arms and legs. It seems when her skin isn't exposed to air she can't grow anymore. So, for now we have her completely covered up. My main concern though is keeping those tails under control. For now, I will continue my research and get to the bottom of this phenomenon.
