

Skylar's hurried footsteps came to an abrupt halt. "No no NO! We're too late!" She began, "That psycho redhead has taken things too far! Maria?! Maria!! Are you alright in there?!" "She won't be able to hear you through that thick glass. Best case, you'll come through as a muffled mess." The redhead scratched her chin without looking their way. She was too busy tinkering with the machine's console.

Rebecca was mesmerized by the spectacle. "I was in there before...? That looks horrifying from the outside. Just what in the world is this thing?..."

"You let her out this instant! You hear me you... you big meany! Don't make me come over there and slap some sense into you!" Skylar continued shouting empty threats while Gabby paid her no mind.

The deep audible humming that had been accompanied by a gentle yet consistent vibration soon grew more violent. The machine appeared to be straining. The girls watched in awe as Maria seemed to fall in and out of consciousness. Then, before their eyes, she seemed to pulse larger. "That didn't happen to me when I was in there..." Rebecca thought. "Is... Is everything alright over there, Gabby?" A drop of sweat began to build on Gabby's brow. "O-Of course!" She quickly replied and wiped her brow. "Hah! Why wouldn't it be?"

Suddenly an explosion of sparks came raining down on their heads as Maria seemed to pulse even larger. "Hmmm..." As the rest of the girls flinched at the loud electrifying sounds that filled the store, Gabby remained fixated on the console. "I've never seen that before..." She mumbled under her breath.

"Gabby - turn it off! Maria doesn't want anything to do with this!!" Skylar once again shouted. "Oh, would you just shut your mouth already? Can't you see the process is nearly done?!" A vein throbbed on Gabby's forehead from annoyance. "She's perfectly fi-- uh oh..."

! Failed Successfully !

With 2 Warnings...

The console of the Lifeblood Infuser MK1 began flashing with a terrible error sound. "Failed successfully. Two warnings..." Gabby read out loud to herself. "Hmm, well... that can't be good."

Meanwhile, the massive glass container lifted towards the ceiling in one smooth motion, leaving behind a puff of otherworldly pink smoke. "I wonder what the two warnings are..." Gabby attempted to navigate the interface but to no avail. "What, you're going to tell me there are TWO warnings after a failure but then proceed to NOT explain what they are?! Bah!" She kicked the side of the machine. "Typical! Just typical!"

"Task failed successfully. Process complete, Gabby." The Lifeblood Infuser spoke out loud in a robotic voice. "I know that! But what were the warnings?!" She shouted back at the hunk of metal. "Anomaly detected. Anomaly detected!" Gabby furiously typed away at the console while she flipped the lever to and fro. "I know I KNOW! But what was the problem!?" She shouted, once again kicking the machine. "Null response. Please! N-Null r-response!" It responded in a begging manner. Gabby rolled her eyes as she sauntered away. "Fine. But you and I are going to have a talk later." The machine seemed to sigh in relief.

"Maria!" Skylar called out as she ran up to her new friend who seemed to be teetering on her own two feet. "She... She didn't convince you to pay her anything, did she?! What about signing any strange contracts?!" Skylar wrapped Maria's arm around her head for support. Gabby chuckled from the side. "Hahaha! You make me laugh, you worrywart! I did no such thing. She stepped inside the Infuser - completely on her own!" While Maria's arms dangled in front of her, Skylar leaned in. "Is... that true, Maria?" Her eyes were empty as they stared straight into the ground.

Just then a huge surge hit Maria, accompanied by a loud ripping sound.

SHHHHRRRRRIIIIIIPPPPPPPPPPP!!!

As Maria's breasts doubled in size and her height seemed to surge upwards, several feet at a time! Her once loose hoodie became all but a tight green blouse, clinging to her enlarged body. "Oh... my god..." Skylar muttered as she felt Maria's increased weight lean into her. It was almost too much to hold up!

"Donde... Wh-Where am I?" Maria mumbled, finally able to think clearly. "That felt... that felt... wow!!" For just a moment, Skylar's eyes met with Maria's. There was hunger and a thirst for more flickering from deep within her pupils. It frightened Skylar.

"Hmm, yes, this will still do. Perfect! Everything is going according to plan. Yes indeed!" Gabby held the very same red bathing suit in front of Maria's new physique. "I couldn't have sized you up any more perfectly! Look at this! A match made in heaven!" Now go, hurry your little half-naked tush over to the changing room and see how you look!" SLAP! With one giant hand to Maria's ass, Gabby encouraged Maria to gallop to the changing room.

Skylar stood beside the giant redhead in awe. "This can't be happening..."

Despite her recent large surge in size, Rebecca still only came up to Gabby's protruding assets. She poked the store owner on the shoulder. "Excuse me, uhhmm. Would it be ok to try out a few other outfits while I'm still at this size?" Gabby's face snapped to Rebecca with a wide smile and a twinkle in her eye. "Why of course you can! Try anything you like! And if we can't find something in your size... we can always give you another ride in the Lifeblood Infuser, alright?" Gabby tilted her head, smiling down at her earnest customer.

"Is she really going to be ok?..." Skylar asked, now having a moment to calm down and watch Maria slip into the "Vertically Challenged Changing Room." "This whole process just seems so... unnatural."

Up close, Gabby's muscular and gigantic figure was beyond intimidating. Skylar stood still while the store owner sauntered closer. Her presence radiated outwards like a furnace. A massive arm came to rest on one of the little Asian's shoulders. It completely enveloped her. "Let me tell you....?" "S-Skylar!" "Skylar." Gabby cleared her throat as she contemplated her words. "I've been, what you call, a Growthie, long before this whole movement became popularized. While I can assure you it is quite safe, I will admit that I've never seen someone grow while still inside the Lifeblood Infuser." She spun some of her dangling hair around her finger as she paused. "Still, her target measurements were matched." The giantess leaned forward - enough to look Skylar right in the face. "And if I know one cure for trauma, it's spending some quality time with this machine right here!" She said, laughing and slapping the top of the machine repeatedly. "Ow. Ow. Ow." A robotic voice whimpered.

"But... doesn't it change who you are?" Skylar asked honestly. "Not in my experience, dear. It helps you become a better, more confident version of yourself! Your true self." Gabby watched in fascination as Skylar searched within herself - covering her heart with one hand. "...Would you like to see for yourself?... Temporarily?"

Gabby gently squeezed Skylar's back in affection - encouraging her to respond. "Ok, I'll do it! But don't grow me too much, ok?!"

It was strange. It was all so strange. Even walking on the smooth wood floor felt... different to Maria. With each stride, her legs reached further than she recalled before! And her height - it was as if she was standing on a stool but also walking at the same time. Her mind was not yet accustomed to the hasty transformation of her body.

She gently pulled back one of the long red curtains in the changing room and found a safe corner to change. Kyle's green hoodie, which was gigantic to her just moments ago, had torn right down the middle in an attempt to contain her blossoming chest and inflating height. Getting her elbows out from the skin-tight sleeves proved to be the most difficult, but when her clothes hit the floor Maria lifted her head, and for the first time got a view of her new figure. "Oh Dios mio..." She caught her mouth hanging open. While her breasts and ass grew proportionally larger on her original small frame, her waist had shrunk, leaving her with chiseled supermodel levels of beauty. "This is different than before... than it was with... him."

Cruel memories of Kyle Wallace taking advantage of her innocence flooded her memory as she stared at the red sling attire cast beside her. "What am I even doing here?" She caught herself saying. "Shouldn't I be trying to get as far away as possible from that man? From the nightmares he left within me..." She bent down for the sexy item of clothing. "And yet, I feel strangely drawn to this place." Her eyes scanned the walls of the small room and her hand glided against one of its cold surfaces. "Maybe, for once, I'm following my heart instead of my fears." She held Gabby's sling bikini up to her body, looked into the mirror, and smiled.

"Santa mierda!" Maria couldn't help but curse out loud as she stepped out of the changing room and in front of the large mirror. "Wow, I look good! Really good!" She began posing, turning around, and admiring every subtle difference of her body. But then, a familiar sensation began to spread from her stomach and into her groin, causing an immense amount of pleasure. "W - What is this feeling!?"

She started growing again.

The feeling was warm and immensely pleasurable. Maria couldn't quite place the sensation. It felt more welcoming than anything she had experienced since leaving her home country. Most would be worried during this moment of sudden additional growth - but not Maria.

As he body stretched taller and her head began to creep higher - beyond the frame of the mirror - her curves rivaled those only found in fantasy. "UHnnmmnnnn!!!" She let out an uncontrollable moan as the sensation seemed to only build up stronger.

It wasn't over yet.

Meanwhile, Rebecca happily stepped out of her own changing room and stretched. "My GOSH! This sensation... it feels so good to just be me!" With her newly invigorated and tingling skin, Rebecca couldn't help but run her hands along her body, reveling in the ecstasy of her recent growth.

"I really need to talk to Scott. With his permission, maybe if I save up some money, I can have Gabby make these changes permanent! I hope he says yes!"

"This top is still a little too big for me though..." Rebecca's beautiful new red lingerie didn't want to stay on.

"Still, I can't wait to write in my journal about this experience! It's like a dream come true!" Just then a moan caught Rebecca's attention. She opened her eyes just in time to see Maria slowly growing larger in front of her!

"What the...?" She whispered under her breath in disbelief.

The sound of Rebecca gasping made her turn around. In one quick final burst of growth, Maria's clothes ripped off her body. "¡L-Lo siento! I mean, I'm sorry! I didn't mean to continue growing! Please don't make me pay for it! I-I have no money!"

Rebecca stood still with her mouth ajar. Her breasts were still exposed to the open air. "It's... it's ok! I don't work here!"

"Oh, thank goodness!" Maria exhaled in relief. Though strangely, the hand which was covering her pussy began to absentmindedly play with herself. Why were the lustful sensations affecting Maria so much?!

The silence was awkward and palpable as Rebecca watched this stranger uncontrollably finger herself. "...Let's get you out of here, ok? Get you some help? Hmm?" She attempted to approach Maria.

Rebecca watched as Maria's face blushed a shade of red, indicating that the sensations were intensifying, and her fingers began to work twice as hard. "B-But this feeling! It's-- MMMnnnnnHHHnNGGG!! It's TOO GOOD! And this smell! What is this amazing scent?!"

Her knees began to buckle beneath her. Wet gushing sounds began to emanate from her crotch as her massive breasts jiggled against her busy arm. "I-- I can't s-stoppp!! MMMnnnhhg!!" Maria sunk to the floor as she feverishly pleased herself.

Rebecca was at odds as to what to do. "I-I'll g-go get help..." She managed to say, but before she could turn to leave, two hands grabbed onto her! Maria was hanging her head low, but when she lifted it to meet Rebecca's gaze, a different person was looking back.

"No, stay! You smell like IT! This feeling... more... I NEED MORE!!!"