

Dark Power Sword

Used Paints:

2 Thin Coats - White Star
Liquitex - Dioxazine Purple

Starting off with a black baselayer.

Adding a lightning pattern using diluted White Star.

Covering all in diluted
Dioxazine Purple.

Letting it dry.

Adding a second layer of white lightning, following the lead of the previous one.

Also covering the edges in diluted white.

Using 2-3 layers till a nice coverage is achieved.

And adding little „energy scratches“ to each side of the blade. While also adding another layer of white to the lightning pattern itself.

Again covering all in diluted Dioxazine Purple.

Letting it dry.

Reestablishing most of the white patterns, while randomly leaving out a few areas.

Finishing it up with a layer of highly diluted Dioxazine Purple, unevenly spread to create a bit of additional variation.

And after letting it dry the sword is done.
