

Even with your eyes closed, you could feel their lips. Each time they landed on your skin, they left a tingling sensation in their wake, that left you desperate for more. You needed more kisses. And they were happy to oblige, even if your body felt completely covered at this point.

They kept on kissing, sinking you deeper into this delightful, tingling pleasure. You let out a soft moan as they travelled upwards, over your chest, to your neck. Here, they planted two kisses, one on either side of your neck, before sitting up, and laughing.

“You look like you’re desperate to squirm, toy. I know you can feel each of my pleasure inducing kisses on your skin still. But what I bet you don’t know, is that you can feel them afresh, whenever I...” You heard them blow you a kiss. “Mwah!”

And as your ears registered the sound, you felt each and every kiss they had laid on your body already. The sensation sent you squirming beneath them, desperate, needy, and turned on. They blew another kiss, and another. You let out a moan.

With each kiss, you sank deeper into pleasure. Deeper into desperation. You wanted their lips in a very specific place... But that had been denied you. Instead, you got tormented. Overloaded with kisses that kept on pushing you deeper into bliss. Deeper into trance.
