

It was always a delight, watching your sub sink into trance. Watching that sweet soft feeling of trance stealing over their body and mind. They looked so cute. Seeing their slow descent to the point that their body doesn't want to respond anyone but you. So very controlled.

Then came the bouncing of their mind, up and down, fractionating them into oblivion, until their mind didn't know if up or down was down or up and the only sensible direction for them was deeper. It was such a treat to see them like this. Open. Happy. Blissful.

All of this before the unravelling of their thoughts. Reshaping their brain. Toying, playing with their mind. Altering them. Making them more obedient. More needy. More desperate for pleasure. And you get to give them that pleasure, when they're your good toy.

Each trigger installed. Each mantra in their brain. Every word you pumped into their mind. It all built up, and up, and up. Until they were yours. Your plaything. Your toy. Wrapped around your little finger. And at that point... That's when the fun really begins, for both of you.
