Sundress season is coming!

Whether your town is ready or not...

That time of year has come again, for the sweatpants
and long sleeves to be shed,
and the greatest of all attire is adorned...

The sundress. As excited as anyone could have programmed, 2b began making her way through downtown. The sundress doing its best to contain her curves

She was of course, aware that some may take advantage of the loose fitting nature of her summer garment. But the weather was too nice to worry about such things...

She was however, not prepared for the lengths as to 'how' they would try to get that peek. Armed with the biggest fans money could buy, a local photographer couldn't have planned this better.

As she stepped over the office building, the sounds of the fan roaring to life caught her
a bit off guard...

As did the skirt on her dress. The fans, at full power, usually reserved for film making, sent her skirt flying!

The whole town was quickly afforded a wonderful view of her matching bottoms.

“Thats the good stuff!”

Realizing now what was causing the wardrobe malfunction, she quickly regained her composure, so she could respond in kind.

Getting her balance, she began to 'show off' for the pitiful photographer. His mind so absorbed with getting that perfect shot he never once considered the dangers of such a brazen act.

As she lowered herself, he seemed unphased by the predicament. He snapped pictures faster, as her rear approached, seemingly unphased by the coming posterior.

2b casually sat on that rooftop.
The fans no longer humming.
The lights no longer shining.
The photographer, apparently without regrets.

But today's little encounter had made it very clear. Even at this size, she was not going to be able to enjoy the first days of summer without someone being a little too nosey...

Therefore, her only solution was to alter her size to a place where nobody could bother her.

At her new size, nobody could blow up her dress or make a walk through town uncomfortable. All she had was the sun on her face and new sandals to break in.

A woman is running through a city street during a firestorm. She is wearing a checkered shirt and a black bikini bottom. She is running towards the viewer, with her right leg forward. She is wearing a brown leather sandal with a buckle. The background is a city street with smoke and fire. The sky is blue with some clouds. The overall scene is chaotic and dangerous.

She even decided to discard those matching shorts
for... some reason.

Nobody below minded the shorts were removed.
Or even took notice.
Mostly due to the running.

The warm sun on her skin just divine. Sure, the city below was “a little more” impacted by her stroll. But this summer day just needed to be soaked up!

Satellites above noted the interaction with the city and noted that while they could not see her expression, they marked it down as "Gleeful."

The warm air on her behind felt amazing, so much so that she almost forgot why she was so put off by crossing town at her earlier size

2b hopes all the ladies can get out
this summer and enjoy the weather.
Put on your Sundresses and grace a nearby town with your lovely summer spirit!
