

Benny & The Anchor

written by
Carlos A Jurado S

Author
Carlos A Jurado S

Address
Phone
E-mail

PAGE 1:

Benny eats her lunch, ready to munch away, when suddenly a loud crowd of bees outside the ship cry out in distress.

BEES: Benny, help!

BENNY: Hmmm?!

PAGE 2:

Benny rushes out and quickly stops, seeing that the anchor's windlass has stopped working.

BENICIO: Aii aii... this is not good!

MARCO: Rrrrngh! This shouldn't have happened at all...

LINGUINI: What are we going to do?!

PAGE 3:

Benny looks toward the kitchen and spots a jar of honey high on a shelf. A close-up reveals it's no ordinary honey, but a special kind that grants incredible strength.

She dashes back into the kitchen, grabs the jar, and chugs it down as she runs outside.

PAGE 4:

Benny grabs hold of the ship's heavy anchor chain near the edge of the deck. Hand over hand, chain by chain, she pulls with all her might.

Her muscles begin swelling with strength as she grunts and strains, the anchor slowly dragging back into place.

PAGE 5:

BENNY: Grrrrnnnh! Hhhhnnnfff...!
(breathing heavily in and out)

Her grunts grow louder as her muscles expand to massive size. With a final roar, Benny lets out a mighty scream—

—The anchor launches skyward!

PAGE 6:

The anchor comes crashing down, about to flatten a bee sailor.

(MORE)

PAGE 6: (CONT'D)

Benny bolts forward, scooping the sailor to safety just in time as the anchor slams onto the ship's deck.

No one is hurt. The crowd bursts into applause at Benny's incredible feat.

Benny blushes.

BENNY (in Italian): Grazie, everyone!