

INFERNAL PRISON

PART 02

The deeper caverns of Infernal Prison are solidified by densely concentrated hard rock on all four sides that surround you. It is not for those of a claustrophobic mind! The second area is for the worst kind of scum that do not deserve to ever see the light of day again. For miles on end cages vertically decorate the otherwise blank chiseled walls and a large platform takes center stage with a lever to control the chains.

Prisoners are locked up in hundreds of cages dangling above scorching hot lava; with the metal boiling and its nicely “cushioning” hay easily flammable. There is no comfort—just constant torture for its inhabitants. The more evil you are deemed, the lower your cage is hung.

For those who are left unbaked, there’s a nice rack of weapons for the occasional torture and a comfortable “Chair of Pain” for a manual “lava stone” treatment from the guards. The only escape is when your entire body is charred black and your body has given up recovering its constant gashes... death.
