

Based on a scene I did recently with @Hypnanosis

Your slap landed hard on your play partner's thigh, and they giggled, pushing themselves up, looking at you. The new contact lenses gave them quite an intense stare. But you met their gaze, they were subbing today.

They smiled as the pain rippled out from where your hand had landed, letting out a soft moan. You knelt up, towering over them, gently tugging at their collar to pull them a little closer to you. The low lighting cast an appealing glow over their face.

You traced a hand up their chin, up their face, before moving to their hair. They nuzzled into your touch, closing their eyes briefly. You stopped rubbing, leaning down. "Keep looking into my eyes." You said. They opened their eyes, obeying, staring up at you. "Good plaything."

They smiled again at the praise. You took a moment longer to just stare them in the eyes. The contact lenses gave them an almost otherworldly look. Their smile widened. "Feel free to stare as long as you want." They said. You blinked, looking away, but their hand moved.

As they caught your chin, bringing your gaze back to theirs, you found yourself staring. This had been an impact scene, but the two of you had played with hypnosis enough to know how to get one another into trance. And you were both easily tranceable.

"That's it. You've done such a good job being in control. But we both know how tempted you are to give in yourself. Isn't that right?" They said.

"I- no..." You muttered, trying to make yourself believe it, even as your mind began to feel hazy from their stare.

You tried to pull your gaze away, but they squeezed your chin, pulling you down a little closer to them. You could feel their heat. Their breath. Their eyes were your whole vision. "That's it. I'm done with being the plaything. Your turn. But that's okay, isn't it?"

They waited, still staring into your eyes. Your mind was swimming with desire. The impact play had been fun for both of you. But here, now, they were offering to play with your mind. And you couldn't find the brain space to want to regain control. So, you said "Green."

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #impactplay #turningthetables #eyecontact