

Super Small Sorority Short Stories 3

Small Rivalry

This is another commission for this series of stories. This time, focusing more on Katie herself.

The relationship between the heads of different sororities is usually one of a playful, friendly rivalry, with the occasional collaboration for events on campus. For most of their peers, it was little more than a fun distraction from the drudgeries of exams and studying. Katie was not most people. She absolutely hated Ashley Jenkins, the head of Kappa Alpha Theta, with a passion. Before Ashley transferred in a year earlier, Katie was the cutest, perkier “lil woman” on campus at 5’1. Ashley was not only head of her sorority, but she transferred in and soon became head cheerleader for the football team, and at a paltry 4’8 with long, black hair and a cute, freckled face, she was certainly seen as the shortest and perkier girl on campus. So naturally, Katie took a dislike to her. This was only intensified when Ashley caught the eye of Zeke Mardup, the latest boy at the time who had caught Katie’s eye. In Katie’s eyes, Zeke, the new star wide receiver, was above Ashley. Granted, at 6’3, he was technically above both of them, but Katie viewed herself as more than up for the challenge, especially since her previous long-time fling ran off with her best friend over a year before. If she ever found where they went, she’d make them pay. As for Ashley... Katie was the head of Phi Zeta Mu! She wasn’t going to let some short-stacked cheerleader take someone she desired. After a few months of boiling rage, Katie came up with a plan. She made most of her problems disappear, so why not Ashley?

It took a little planning, but Katie put the wheels into motion. She knew Zeke's birthday was coming up. She made everyone think that she and Ashley were the best of friends, tricking Ashley herself into believing it. After a drunken party, she offered to call Ashley an uber, but coincidentally her phone was dead. That was how she learned Ashley's passcode. She also began planting seeds that Ashley was going to surprise Zeke with something special for his birthday. She did warn him not to tell Ashley as she did not want to ruin her "friend's" surprise.

On the day of Zeke's birthday, Katie made her move. She asked Ashley over to the Phi Zeta house to help plan a fundraiser for the marching band. That was a lie, of course. Katie hated band music. Katie guided Ashley through the sorority house, noting that Ashley politely took her shoes off at the door and drummed her toes through the soft, thick carpet. Katie idly wondered how many shrunken "guests" of the sorority were being kneaded under her would-be rivals' toes at that moment. No matter. They mattered even less than Ashley soon would. Katie led Ashley to her room and made small talk until Ashley set her phone on the table. Without a single word, Katie whipped out her shrink ray and fired on the dark-haired girl.

The sudden shock of the size change caused the dwindling Ashley to fall off of the bed she was perched on the corner of and landed on the floor in a heap. She looked up at Katie who slid out of her own chair and walked over to Ashley, practically straddling the now even shorter girl's head with her bare feet. She drummed her toes on the blush rug, tugging a little of her would-be rival's hair with her pinkie toe.

"Wha?" Ashley sputtered before Katie shushed her with a big toe that was the size of her lips.

"None of that. Yes, you're smaller. About four feet tall. Yes, you're going to get much smaller. No I'm not growing you back. Why? Because I just can't stand you. I hate everything about your perky little self."

As Katie said the words "perky" and "little" she zapped Ashley with the shrink ray to emphasize each syllable. Each flash of light from the ray caused the stunned Ashley to sink lower and lower, losing another eight inches at a time. As a smug grin contorted Katie's face, Ashley snapped to her senses and to action. She jerked her body straight up, as hard and as fast as she could, hoping she was tall enough to make contact. She was.

Ashley headbutted Katie exactly between the legs, her head the size of a softball slamming into Katie's clothed vulva with enough force to cause the diminutive amazon to gasp in shock and pain. She doubled over, her knee hitting the leg-high Ashley to the side. Ashley scrambled to the door, only to feel herself dwindling, faster, farther. The threads of the rug were getting thicker and her toes got caught on one, causing her to slam face first onto the cold hardwood floor. She couldn't even make it off the rug.

In the distance, Katie uttered a thunderous grunt, and Ashley felt the ground shake and tremble as Katie's bare feet, each likely the length of her own body, stomped towards her. She sobbed lightly as fingers as thick as her legs clawed around her torso and snatched her into the air. She was roughly twisted between lotion-scented palm and manicured fingers. Each nail was longer than her head and threatened harm as they unintentionally tore chunks out of Ashley's expensive school sweater, exposing soft flesh. She felt whiplashed as Katie roughly slung her around in her grip.

"You little bitch! If you want to get near my pussy so much, why didn't you say so?" Katie dropped the stunned Ashley onto her bed and pulled her pants and panties down, exposing herself to the tiny woman. She once again picked Ashley up and slid her dollish body face-first along her damp and slightly sore vulva. She pulled Ashley away and grinned down at her little prey as she took aim with the shrink ray. "Well, you were going to end up down there anyway. Don't forget to say hi to Zeke when he gets here."

Before Ashley could express her confusion, the shrink ray enveloped her with its energy, and she began to dwindle. Shrinking far more quickly than before, Katie's damp palm went from being bed-sized to a veritable swamp due to the puddled juices that had just recently dripped to it from Ashley's body. Still, she dwindled smaller. The ground rumbled rhythmically, pulsing through her. Pulse. It was Katie's pulse reverberating through her. The wrinkles in Katie's hand rose up around her like trenches. The heat and scent of the larger woman was everywhere and all-consuming.

If Ashley thought Katie's pulse was terrifying, it was nothing compared to her laughter. Ashley sank to her knees, clamping her hands over her ears as Katie raised her hand up to her mouth and laughed at the speck of a woman in her clutches. The world shook as Katie lay back on the bed and slowly lowered her hand down the length of her fit body. She sarcastically puckered her lips in a kiss before tilting her hand and dropping the practically mite-sized tiny into the dense brush of her blonde bush.

Ashley screamed in terror as she tumbled, end over end, through the air towards the pending pubic mound. She crashed through the thick forest of hairs, bouncing off of multiple reaching follicles before crashing in a heap against the warm, humid, moist skin of Katie. She looked up to see gigantic hay-colored trees curling and intertwining together as they stretched towards the sky that was Katie's bedroom ceiling. Said sky was soon covered by the cloud cover of her green panties as they slid up, pressing down the wiry trees towards the miniscule Ashley. Ashley screamed as hairs crashed and pressed around her, dodging, trying not to be crushed by hairs that were twice as thick as her legs.

Katie slid her panties up, then her yoga pants. She condescendingly patted the thick patch of pubic hair that she had been growing out just for this occasion. She shimmed her hips as she adjusted her pants, only to see Ashley's phone buzz with a few texts. It was Zeke. She smirked and replied as Ashley, saying that Ashley had an emergency come up and couldn't have fun, but for Zeke to enjoy his surprise with Katie. Zeke, playing the part of a good boyfriend, asked if she was sure. Katie as Ashley replied that she'd be mad if he didn't enjoy himself with Katie. It's his present after all. She followed it up by taking a picture of herself on her bed, topless with Ashley's phone, and sent it to Zeke. An eggplant and a water emoji followed.

Zeke was not the brightest member of the football team. There was a reason until recently, he was only the second-string receiver. Sure, he had amazing speed, a sturdy build, great endurance, and was quite agile, but... he wasn't known for being quick on his feet mentally. Fortunately, while on the field he had teammates who were more perceptive. Still, he was able to scramble, and he could catch a pass. One opportunity that he was not going to pass up on was his chance to score with Ashley and Katie. He was disappointed that Ashley couldn't make it but was beyond thrilled that she still wanted him to have fun with Katie. As he walked up to the sorority house, he reminded himself that he was lucky enough to have the coolest girlfriend ever. Again, he never questioned the potential for this to be a trick or a trap. He was not a smart man.

The use of his brain did not matter much to Katie. She was far more interested in putting his other head to use as she opened the door to see him looming over her. She gave him a wry, teasing grin and beckoned him inside. Zeke was tall, fit, and handsome in that mid-western blonde farm boy sort of way, with a moppy head of hair. She made sure that she had a slight wedgie in her yoga pants as she led him to her room. Her ass being on perfect display. She could see that the poor boy was already hard, and she was already impressed by the bulge she saw. It may be best to cut him down in size a bit, so he doesn't split her in two, she mused idly, knowing she was more than excited about taking in the entire girth of this man who was over a foot taller than her. Speaking of feet, she once again wondered if anyone was being crushed under hers. Once the door to her room was shut, she didn't waste any time and leapt up to Zeke who caught her in his arms, hefting her up higher. She wrapped her legs around his waist and back and leaned up to kiss him deeply. Moaning at the sheer power of the man. He was massive to her, which meant that every part of him would be massive to her new little friend.

Ashley was disorientated. She was in a sweaty, humid jungle that constantly shifted and tossed about in the dark recesses of Katie's bush. Thick, limbless trees spiraled up into the sky. The heat and humidity within this shifting forest of damp flesh and hair. She found herself tossed between the thick and rough keratin trunks with each shift and step that Katie made. Occasionally she would slap against the firm and moist ground that was Katie's skin. Her natural fluids coated the area in a thick sheen of juices, her arousal turned this into a swamp. Ashley wondered if her supposed friend was even aware of the torture that every movement she made had upon her poor tiny self. She eventually found a thick hair that she wrapped her arms and legs around, roughly around the time that Katie was wrapping herself around Zeke. Neither woman realized that the other was clinging to something roughly the same proportionate size, for a single of Katie's hairs were as thick as Zeke's entire body would have been to either of them. Ashley clung to the thick, greasy hair until Katie dropped and she found herself in freefall.

The planetary sorority girl landed with a crash that reverberated through her body. The mere act of Zeke dropping Katie onto her bed led to poor little Ashley being tossed a dozen feet across the pubic mound of her tormentor. Perhaps mount would be a better way to describe this rise of flesh upon which she was trapped. Ashley could barely comprehend the scale of Katie compared to herself. The petite girl was beyond tiny in her own mind now. A crack of light nearly blinded her as a gap was opened at the waistband of Katie's panties. The sky was peeled away, and her minute status was further reinforced as she saw the face of her beloved Zeke hovering above her, like a moon in the sky. She was stunned by the rush of cool air battling with Katie's natural humidity, but more stunned by the sheer scale of Zeke's body, and the scale of his betrayal. She stared up at the titan as he gazed upon her. No. She realized she was too small for him to even see. He wasn't looking at her. He was looking at Katie, the girl he was cheating on her with. The living world that she was a mite on.

His mouth opened and a blast of warm, humid, cheap-beer-scented air blasted through Katie's bush, tossing the tiny Ashley about like a leaf in a storm. It was just Zeke gasping in awe at Katie's wet pussy. His voice thundered as much, though Ashley had a hard time understanding him due to her tiny size and how close his massive mouth was. Wait... it was getting closer. Ashley screamed futility as her boyfriend's tongue slid out of his mouth and disappeared beneath the horizon of Katie's pubic mound the ground shuddered violently, knocking her to her back as Katie quivered lightly with pleasure at Zeke licking her pussy.

Ashley knew that Zeke fancied himself as good at going down on a girl. At least he thought he did a good job giving her head. He was normally so tall that she thought he liked looking at her from a shorter perspective. Now, however, he was far larger than she could have ever imagined. The world around her quaked with each bob of Zeke's head and each thrust and shift of Katie's hips as Zeke went to town on her giant frenemy. Each sloppy drag of his tongue up Katie's cunt sprayed her pubes and the tiny Ashley with a mix of his saliva and Katie's juices. At multiple points Ashley found herself wading and even swimming through waves of fluids that spawned from meteoric droplets that rained down from above. Every inch, or nanometer at this point, of Ashley was covered in the two colossi's excess. She could barely move as she fought her way through the jungle of hairs. A shadow passed over her and she looked up to see a hand and arm large enough to eclipse cities reach down as Katie gripped the back of Zeke's head and pressed him into her cleft, relishing the massive man eating her out. Ashley felt a tinge of jealousy break through the horror of the situation. That should have been her that Zeke was pleasuring, not Katie. Instead, Katie was the one being pleased by Zeke's curious, probing tongue. Instead, Ashley was being knocked to the ground once more and tossed around as Katie enthusiastically wrapped her legs around Zeke's head for a moment.

Katie and Zeke settled into something of a rhythm, which gave Ashley a moment to better view her surroundings. As Katie rubbed her hands through Zeke's thick, bobbing, head of hair, Ashley was in a strange living world. The ground constantly rumbled and quaked, shifted and moved. Every undulation of pleasure that Katie experienced was a world altering occurrence for Ashley. Each inhale and exhale from Zeke's nose as it passed through the air threatened to pull her into the sky or send her flying across the ground that was Katie's pubis mons. She was an explorer marooned on an alien world. Then Ashley's world turned upside down.

Quite literally so, as Zeke fell back onto Katie's bed and the giantess straddled him. Ashley, who was offput and distracted by the whole situation, missed Katie pulling Zeke's head away and missed him disappearing. She now found the ground shifting from vertical to parallel as she fell from Katie's fairly kept bush to the thick wiry growth of Zeke's. She collapsed at the base of a tower. No, a monolith. No, a mountain. His cock rose above her, the same that she had painfully and enthusiastically taken many times, like an indescribable monument to masculinity. Like Katie, the world of Zeke shuddered and quaked. A gentle pulse throbbed throughout the ground around her, emanating from the massive column of flesh that now dominated her skyline higher than any building she had ever seen. A massive peak rising above the wiry forest like a foreboding monolith.

If Katie's forest had a heady aroma, Zeke's was musky and sweaty, just as she had acclimated to one horrific environ, she was now cast into another. The world rumbled and shook as the sky went dark. Katie's body eclipsed the sun that was her ceiling light as she leaned her massive body across Zeke's to kiss him. Katie's powerful thighs, taunt stomach, meteoric breasts all hung over Ashley as the woman kissed HER boyfriend. Ashley was practically bursting with anger, at least she would be if she was not so terrified of actually bursting between the bodies of the two living landmasses. A crash erupted behind Ashley, demanding her attention. She looked up and saw a thick glob of a viscous fluid that she had become acquainted with recently now matting and weighing down the hair of Zeke's pubic forest. A drop of Katie's arousal had plummeted down like a devastating meteorite. A long strand of cum traced from the impact zone to the heavens above, ending at Katie's moist mound. The liquid dripped down like a wall of molasses the size of a building. It sunk down into Zeke's already somewhat matted hair and began to encroach on the spot where Ashley had found herself. To avoid the sticky doom of Katie's cum, she scrambled up onto the base of her boyfriend's mammoth member.

The sky shifts again as Katie's body slides across the horizon at a nauseating speed for the tiny woman beneath her. The chaos of the giant world stopped for a moment as Katie's head hung in the sky like a veritable Sword of Damocles, waiting to decide Ashley's fate. A strange grin crossed Katie's face as she looked down at Zeke's dick... or was she looking at Ashley? Could she see Ashley's tiny body peering up at her through the thicket of hair? Ashley only had a moment to ponder the strange, scrunched eyebrows of Katie's face before the massive woman's monolithic mouth peeled open. Strands of saliva as thick as Ashley's body hung suspended in the gaping maw, entrancing Ashley in terror of their power. This fear of saliva was soon overcome with fear of Katie crashing down towards her as Katie simply bobbed her head down and encompassed the head of Zeke's member.

Katie lightly bobbed and dipped her head, feeling out the massive rod, lightly sucking, licking and squeezing it with her lips and tongue. Each act shook Ashley's world as the ground beneath and around her throbbed with jolts of pleasure that quaked the world of his skin beneath her feet. She collapsed against the base of his shaft only to be trapped in the quagmire of Katie's saliva that dripped down the perilous pillar of flesh. She was stuck fast to the warm muscle, its heat radiating through her, cutting through the rapidly cooling drool of Katie. A moan emanated from Katie's through, through Zeke's shaft and into Ashley's tiny body. She was literally shaken to her core, reminded of how tiny she was. Gusts of air pummeled her from Katie's flaring nostrils as the giantess struggled to take the giant's girth. Ashley tried to move but couldn't. Katie's powerful breath had caused the saliva to harden and practically glue her to Zeke's shaft. This would either prove to be her salvation or damnation as the sky shifted once more and Katie's thighs straddled Zeke's body. Ashley craned her neck to look directly up and saw Katie's monstrous, dripping cleft hanging high above her, literally dripping with desire and anticipation. Then it dropped.

Ashley screamed in terror and Katie screamed in pleasure as Katie dropped her full body weight onto Zeke's thick cock. His rod speared into her, causing her folds to warp and wrap around him as he filled her more than she had ever been filled before. Katie was very selective about the men she brought home and usually had a good eye for ones that could satisfy her, but she outdid herself with this selection, she thought as she felt her eyes roll back into her head as his head bounced off of her cervix on the first try. She arched her back and began to grind and pump her hips on him, savoring him inside of her. His arms were handcuffed to her headboard, but she could tell by his tense form and stuttering moans that he was enjoying this as much as she was. She began to rise up and then drop back down. As she did so, her juices squeezed out of her tightly stuffed pussy and dripped down his cock.

For Ashley, this was a calamity of biblical proportions. Like the great flood of old, Katie's own waters flooded around the tiny girl, drenching her and Zeke's cock with thick swells coming down from her now open floodgates. Ashley was struggling to fight the deluge of Katie's juices as Katie rode her man. HER man, Ashley reminded herself, clinging onto the fact that Katie had to go to such extreme lengths to even have a chance with the man who had chosen her. The man who she was not little more than a parasite to. Ashley screamed and cursed until the titanic woman's juices nearly choked her. As Katie rode Zeke, she lowered one of her finely manicured hands to grip and stroke Zeke's cock as she slid herself up and down on it. It was simply too large for her to take in one go. Unfortunately for Ashley, Katie's "handiwork" caused the tiny girl to move further up her boyfriend's shaft until she was high enough that the next time Katie came crashing down, Ashley went up inside of her.

For the wisp of a woman, she was in the worst hell she could imagine. She was pinned between Zeke's throbbing penis and the pulsing, kneading walls of Katie's pussy. She couldn't even begin to think of moving as she was slid up and down Zeke's shaft, now caught in the folds of Katie's pussy. She was tossed about, a speck in their pleasure. Katie's body thundered in ecstasy at what she was doing. At some point during the next few minutes, she undid the cuffs of Zeke, who promptly pulled out of her and pushed her aside. Ashley gasped for air, trapped just at the tip of Zeke's tip. He began moving. Ashley wondered if he was leaving. She looked up, hoping for salvation but instead saw Katie's plump, heart-shaped ass filling the horizon. Two hands slid into view, each gripping a cheek. One hand was Katie's, the other Zeke's. They spready Katie's plump posterior as Katie spread her thighs, revealing her dripping pussy. Ashley barely had time to take a breath as the cockhead she was on, larger than her own sorority house, barreled towards Katie's pussy at inhuman speeds. Ashley slammed into one of the lips of Katie's pussy face first and passed out on impact.

Ashley had brief spurts of consciousness over the next few hours of Katie and Zeke's pleasure. Each time she found herself tossed like a dandelion seed in a hurricane between the colossal couple. Each time she was on a slightly different part of Katie. When she last came to, she did so not to the sounds of grunts of pleasure, but to a rumbling laughter. Ashley was once again in Katie's pubic hair, this time plastered there by a mix of Katie and Zeke's juices. She couldn't move. She was just trapped in Katie's pubic hairs, near the rise of her left labia. She saw the silver front of the shrinking device hovering over her.

"Well, well well. Look at you." Katie thundered down with the most condescending tone Ashley had ever heard. She could make out the tiny speck of Ashley trapped in the quagmire of her juices through the screen on the sizer. Even with its enhanced magnification, if Katie simply twitched her vulva she'd lose sight of the tiny girl. "Zeke's gone now. It's just me and you. I've gotten what I wanted from him. It was wonderful. That means I don't really need you. Well, I never needed you. I just needed to get you out of the way," Katie admitted, almost as much to herself as to Ashley.

"You sure look stuck down there." Katie said, honestly sounding impressed with herself in some way. "I guess it's time to let you go."

Ashley sighed in relief. The nightmare was almost over. Katie was letting her go. The shrinking device lit up and Ashley felt the strands of cum that bound her to Katie's flesh and hairs loosen as everything grew... grew? No! That can't be right! Ashley began to thrash and panic as the world ballooned around her once more. She dwindled down until she was standing in an ocean of semi dried cum that was once a drop. Each strand of hair was now larger than an office building to her and she still dwindled. Smaller and smaller. She screamed until she was small enough to where she was at risk of falling into the slope of skin at the base of where one of these hairs grew from. She could no longer see the sky, see Katie's face, or see the shrinking device. It was all an indecipherable blur to her. As unseeable to her as space was to Katie. She was beyond small. Beyond a mite. A mite to a mite on the mighty Katie. A vast desert spotted with mountains of drying juices loomed around her. She was in a crater formed by her own former form. She could make out the shape of her limbs and was currently trapped in the impression that her own ass had made in the cum that stained Katie. The speck of cum was so small that Katie likely couldn't even see it with the naked eye. She wondered if Katie could even see her at all as the walls of cum started to shift towards her like a massive landslide of carnal muck. Ashley turned and began to run towards the ridge left by the cleft of her own ass print as the impossibly large remains of Katie and Zeke's fun started to seep towards her like an inescapable continent of cum. She only hoped that she could make it to the base of a hair that loomed as large to her now as Katie had at the start of this shrinking debacle.

Katie smirked as she saw that the shrinker's scanner could no longer even detect Ashley. She rarely ever shrunk someone this small. Depending on how long she held the button, Ashley may very well be the smallest she's ever shrunk someone, that she could remember at least. She idly rubbed her clit as she looked at the thin pubic hairs on the edge of her labia, knowing that her former rival was now lost down there. She nearly came from just the thought of it. Katie thought of taking a shower to wash not only the parasite from her skin, but her and Zeke's combined filth from her body. However, it was late, she was tired from such a thorough fucking, and she thought she could give Ashley at least some chance to find a way to survive. After all, it was the least Katie could do, Katie thought as she slid her panties up, patted her pubic mound and slid under her covers to sleep.
