Citizen Employees of Stellar Firma: Happy Winter Holidays! I hope you are full of Board-mandated Good Cheer. I am thrilled to announce an exciting new obligatory initiative aboard Stellar Firma to improve morale: Compulsory Film Appreciation. To tell you more about this fun and inescapable new pastime, here is Hartro Piltz.

HARTRO

Yes, holiday greetings, my esteemed colleagues. Now, as you know, here at Stellar Firma employees are strictly encouraged to participate in mandated hobby development and I for one and thrilled to be serving on the C.F.A. I.M.O.G.E.N. and I will be discussing classic movie favourites from Earth, such as Mandated Movie 1 and… (what is it..?) Mandated Movie 2! All selections carefully determined by… someone somewhere. Oh what fun! I.M.O.G.E.N., remember that holiday classic, Dies Hard?

I.M.O.G.E.N.

Ah, yippee-ki-doo, motherfunsters! A cautionary tale about how just one bad apple can spoil a meticulously-planned heist for everyone.

HARTRO

Ah yes, especially if that apple is wearing a white vest and surrounded by broken glass!

[aside, to herself]

so much… broken glass…

[resumes announcement]

Now, don't be like John McClane: follow protocol and remember to enjoy your allocated festive time slots.

I.M.O.G.E.N.

Now I have a machine gun! Ho ho ho!
