

Your partner pulled you in, close to them. They weren't wasting any time today. They held you close for a moment, eyes slowly moving over your face, taking you in. They smiled, before tapping you on the forehead with one finger. "And drop, toy."

Your eyelids rolled upwards, as their arms pulled you tightly into their embrace. "That's it. Just sink, and drift for me. I've got you." They held you firmly, stopping you from sinking to the ground, as they whispered into your ear. "You don't need to go anywhere."

Their words were flowing directly into your unresisting mind. "You don't need to think. Just sink for me, into my control. Into my power. You're all mine for the next few hours, and I plan to give you every bit of pleasure you can take. Eyes open, toy. Follow me."

You obeyed, eyes fluttering open, even as your mind remained fuzzy and hazy. They gently pulled you further into their apartment, towards the bedroom. As they lead you to the bed, they gently pushed you onto it, and climbed on top of you. "Close your eyes, and let go."

With the bed supporting you, you couldn't help but obey. Mind going blank as you closed your eyes, and just sinking into the comfort. You heard them laugh, softly. "That's it. All mine." Their hands traced down your chest, over your clothes, and you shivered in anticipation.

As their hands slipped under your shirt, you noticed how intense their touch felt. You let out a small gasp, which became a moan as they dragged a single nail across your tummy. "Mmm, that's my good toy. Open. Ready. Eager. I'm going to have a lot of fun playing with you today."

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #control #obedience #hypnoticcouple