“Feel the lust, toy. Feel it growing inside you.” Your hypnotist said, gently brushing their hand down your cheek, as they leant over you on the bed. A flame that consumes all other parts of your mind. You want me. You need me.”

Their hand trailed lower. “You can’t resist the urges that are flowing through your brain, infecting your body with desire. Arousal. Lust.” You felt your body, like a coiled spring of need, aimed at them. Your breath had quickened. They smiled. “Good, come u-”

Your body moved before your mind was fully aware. There was only them. Your desire for them. For their body. Your hands roamed, your lips met, passion fuelling the arousal that flooded you, and you knew they were feeling it too. But you wanted more. You needed more.

You leant back, pushing them down onto the bed. Your head moved downwards, eagerly seeking out the spot between their legs. They laughed, breath hitching as your mouth settled into a frenzied rhythm, bringing them as much pleasure as you could. “Good toy. Such a good plaything.”
