

"It's wild to think about how much my thoughts are constantly dancing, moving, twisting and transforming." You said, looking up at your partner as they ran their hand down your cheek. "I- don't think I'd ever be able to describe it to you." Their contact was making you flustered.

But you wanted to say this. "But you have the ability to just make them stop. You can just pluck my thoughts out of my head and it feels so good. I get to be empty and mindless. No thinking. The shifting, ever changing pattern goes still. Focused on you."

They smiled, nodding, as you finished speaking. "I love that I can do that for you, babe. And I love how much you enjoy it. Being my mindless little toy. I love how easy it is too. I just..." They tapped you on the forehead. Your thoughts stalled, mind stumbling.

"And there we are. Thoughts on pause, at my command. And it's so easy, isn't it, toy?" They tapped your forehead again, and your thoughts started moving once more.

"I- umm-" you were blushing, arousal tickling your mind at the control they had over you.

Your partner pressed a finger to your lips. "Shh, toy. Stop trying to think. You're better brainless." They tapped you on the forehead again, and your thoughts stopped once more. "So mindless. So empty headed. I'll stop your thoughts for you whenever you want, my love."
