

HACIENDA

BACKGROUND

Don Sebastián Solano is the head of the Solano family. Having made their money from trade and with no direct connection to any political factions, the Solano's are highly respected by the community due to their charitable endeavours.

Although Sebastian himself is currently the only resident of the families Hacienda, aside from the guards and serving staff, he regularly hosts dinners and events for the common folk so the compound is always humming with life. While preparing a feast to celebrate an upcoming festival one of the kitchen staff was found dead, seemingly poisoned after having tasted some of the meal.

Don Solano has locked down the estate and cancelled the celebrations until he can find who poisoned the food and why. Unable to fully trust his own staff, he is calling for outside help with the investigation.
