

I Have An Infinite Cultivation Resource

Chapter 132: Bone Tempering Complete — A Physical Body Comparable to a Nascent Soul Cultivator

Lu You swallowed a small pinch of the bone powder and carefully observed the changes within his body.

Fortunately, the medicines prepared by Liu Yan'er and Liu Wan'er had taken effect.

To Lu You's surprise, he couldn't feel the slightest trace of pain.

His body was already comparable to that of a Golden Core cultivator, so even the smallest change would normally produce unbearable agony. The fact that this pinch of bone powder caused no pain at all was enough to demonstrate just how extraordinary the Divine Farmer's Physique truly was.

"She only took my pulse once, yet she was able to develop a customized painkiller specifically for my body. This soul contract really was a bargain."

With a sigh of admiration, Lu You took more Bone of Hell Powder from the little cauldron. Mouthful after mouthful, he swallowed it while using spiritual energy to refine it inside his body.

Beneath the trees, Lu You's body visibly began to swell.

It wasn't because the bone powder made him larger. Rather, every cell in his body was undergoing violent transformation. Cells continuously died and regenerated, causing his body to swell and become engorged with blood from the internal damage. At the same time, the shape of his bones was constantly changing.

The next moment, Lu You suddenly began coughing violently.

Blood poured from his mouth in great spurts, and even several of his teeth were spat out with the blood.

"Not good..."

His pupils contracted.

"Since I can't feel pain anymore, I can't even tell how badly my body has been damaged!"

He wanted to stop the bone tempering.

But then an overwhelming sensation of hunger surged up from deep inside him.

Eat.

Although he couldn't feel even a hint of pain, every single cell in his body screamed with starvation. Even his heart felt so hungry it wanted to burst out through his throat.

A blood-red glow appeared around Lu You's body.

Seeing that something was wrong, Evil Eye voluntarily activated the Hell Avatar.

The blood-mist arms it manifested opened Lu You's storage ring and, following his intentions, continuously pulled out bottle after bottle of spirit liquid, along with one lotus-seed-and-serpent-egg delicacy after another.

At this moment, Lu You's body was continuously dying and rebuilding itself.

He couldn't move a single muscle.

Evil Eye's six arms moved frantically, feeding the spirit liquid and food into Lu You's mouth one after another.

"Not enough... still not enough..."

"I'm starving to death!"

The veins on Lu You's forehead bulged violently.

His facial features twisted from the overwhelming hunger.

Hearing his shout from behind the trees, the Liu sisters immediately rushed over.

When Liu Wan'er saw Lu You's naked body, her face reddened briefly.

But upon seeing the pain etched across his distorted expression, she immediately crouched beside him, grabbed his wrist, and took his pulse.

"This feels exactly like when someone's cultivation breaks through."

"Senior Brother Lu's physical body is about to advance!"

Thanks to her Divine Farmer's Physique, which could identify virtually any physical condition, Liu Wan'er immediately understood what was happening inside Lu You.

Although a breakthrough was normally good news, anxiety filled her face.

"No..."

"Senior Sister, Senior Brother's physical body is advancing from the Golden Core level to the Nascent Soul level."

"But the Heavenly Opportunity Realm suppresses the world's spiritual energy."

"He doesn't have enough spiritual energy to complete the breakthrough."

Unlike breakthroughs in the cultivation realm, which only required breaking through a bottleneck with a relatively small amount of spiritual energy, a breakthrough of the physical body was entirely different.

Every single cell had to be filled with enough energy to match a Nascent Soul body.

Hearing Liu Wan'er's explanation, Evil Eye immediately slammed all six of its arms into the ground.

In just moments, it dug a deep pit.

Then it opened Lu You's storage ring.

At the same time, Lu You communicated with the little cauldron.

An endless stream of spirit liquid poured out from the storage ring, rapidly filling the pit until it became an entire pool of pure spirit liquid.

Immediately afterward, Evil Eye scuttled forward like a giant spider on its six arms and dragged Lu You into the pool.

Hiss!

The instant his body entered, steam billowed into the air.

The pool of spirit liquid vaporized almost instantly, and every drop was absorbed into Lu You's body.

"This is a breakthrough from Golden Core to Nascent Soul!" Liu Wan'er exclaimed, "Even this much spirit liquid isn't enough!"

Looking at the pool that had been completely filled with spirit liquid, both Liu Wan'er and Liu Yan'er were once again astonished by Lu You's wealth.

Yet despite the enormous quantity of spirit liquid, it was still far from sufficient for a cultivator to successfully advance into the Nascent Soul Realm.

Before the two women had even finished speaking, the enormous pit was filled with spirit liquid once again.

Almost immediately, steam billowed up from the pool.

Within moments, every drop of spirit liquid had been completely absorbed.

No longer concerned with hiding his resources in order to save his own life, Lu You stopped holding back.

An endless torrent of spirit liquid poured from the little cauldron. To the Liu sisters, it looked as though the storage ring on Lu You's hand contained entire rivers, lakes, and oceans. The deafening roar of rushing water echoed continuously, and the amount of spirit liquid had long surpassed anything they could comprehend.

Not all of the vaporized spirit liquid was absorbed by Lu You. Some of it drifted into the surrounding forest, causing the ambient spiritual energy to become noticeably denser. Simply breathing the air made Liu Yan'er and Liu Wan'er feel the circulation of spiritual energy within their bodies speed up.

"Senior Brother Lu is unbelievably rich..."

Liu Wan'er's pupils trembled. She couldn't think of a single word capable of describing such extravagant wealth.

Liu Yan'er was even more stunned.

She stared blankly at the pool that kept filling and emptying, nearly drooling.

"My heavens..."

"What a waste..."

"If all this spirit liquid were used to refine medicine instead, just imagine how incredible those medicines would be!"

Watching Lu You spend spirit liquid so lavishly, both sisters felt equal parts envy and excitement.

They envied the fact that he treated spirit liquid like ordinary water, using it to supply all the spiritual energy needed for a breakthrough from Golden Core to Nascent Soul.

At the same time, they were thrilled to have such an incredibly wealthy master.

Since the two of them specialized in refining high-grade medicines, with this vast supply of spirit liquid and the medicinal herbs they had just harvested, not only would Lu You be able to reach the Nascent Soul Realm with ease, but the two sisters could benefit tremendously as well.

Even receiving a small fraction of Lu You's resources would likely be enough for them to cultivate all the way to the Nascent Soul Realm.

"Wait!"

Liu Yan'er suddenly grabbed Liu Wan'er's arm.

Lu You, who was immersed in the pool of spirit liquid, no longer wore a pained expression.

However...

His body was growing larger and larger, swelling like an inflating balloon.

Besides replenishing spiritual energy, spirit liquid also possessed healing properties.

The swelling and redness covering Lu You's body had disappeared the instant he entered the pool.

His current expansion clearly wasn't caused by his bones and cells breaking down and regenerating anymore.

Liu Wan'er also realized something was wrong.

Because Lu You had consumed such a large quantity of painkillers, once the overwhelming hunger disappeared, he could no longer sense any discomfort from his body and therefore hadn't noticed that anything abnormal was happening.

She immediately jumped into the pool of spirit liquid and grabbed Lu You's wrist once again.

Even Evil Eye was terrified.

It hardly dared to breathe.

Having signed a life-and-death contract with Lu You, its fate was now completely tied to his.

If Lu You died, Evil Eye would truly perish as well.

"Boss, don't die!"

"I was counting on becoming a god with you someday and drinking divine blood like water!"

Every one of Evil Eye's manifested three heads and six arms had tears welling up in its eyes.

"Hey! Aren't you the one with the Divine Farmer's Physique? You have to save Boss!"

Because Lu You's body kept expanding, Liu Wan'er struggled for quite some time before finally locating his pulse.

"It's an imbalance of yin and yang!"

"The spiritual energy of heaven and earth naturally contains both yin and yang."

"But when someone nourishes themselves using heavenly treasures and precious materials, they're almost always absorbing yang-attributed energy."

"Senior Brother Lu's internal energies have become unbalanced."

"Fortunately, his physical body is strong enough to withstand it."

"If it were any other cultivator, they would have exploded long ago."

She glanced toward the medicine pot in the distance and anxiously said,

"Senior Brother Lu should be able to hold on for about another fifteen minutes."

"I'll refine medicine as fast as I can."

"I need to combine herbs with yin attributes to produce an extremely yin medicinal formula. Only that can neutralize the excess yang energy inside Senior Brother Lu."

"Fifteen minutes?"

"So little time?"

Watching Liu Wan'er leap out of the spirit liquid pool and rush toward the alchemy equipment to frantically sort through medicinal herbs, Liu Yan'er became equally anxious.

It wasn't just Evil Eye.

Because of their soul contract, if Lu You died, both sisters would die alongside Evil Eye as well.

Saving Lu You now meant saving themselves.

"Wan'er, hurry! I'll buy you some time!"

Liu Yan'er stomped her foot decisively.

Even without the soul contract with Evil Eye, there was no way she could simply watch Lu You die.

Besides the fact that Lu You had just saved both of their lives, he also possessed countless heavenly treasures. He represented the sisters' only real hope of becoming stronger.

There was no sect they could truly trust.

To anyone else, people with the Divine Farmer's Physique were little more than slaves, and joining another sect might only lead to an even more miserable life than before.

Lu You wasn't a sect, but he was wealthier than any sect they had ever known.

Liu Yan'er would rather sacrifice herself so that Lu You and Liu Wan'er could survive.

With a splash, she jumped into the pool of spirit liquid.

Taking a deep breath, she submerged herself beneath the surface.

Adjusting her breathing, she began transferring her spiritual energy into Lu You.

Men were associated with yang, women with yin.

As a woman, Liu Yan'er's dantian naturally carried yin energy, allowing it to offset part of the excessive yang energy inside Lu You. By connecting their spiritual energies, she introduced a trace of yin into his body.

The spirit liquid continued cycling endlessly.

Lu You would absorb every drop, and the pool would immediately refill.

Liu Yan'er surfaced briefly whenever the pool emptied to catch her breath, then held it again as another torrent of spirit liquid poured in.

Seeing this, Liu Wan'er's face flushed bright red.

She felt heat spreading through her entire body, and she trembled slightly.

Yet there was no better solution.

She could only divide her attention between refining medicine as quickly as possible and constantly observing Lu You's condition, analyzing every change occurring within his body.

One minute...

Five minutes...

Half a quarter-hour...

A full quarter-hour...

Liu Wan'er tossed several more medicinal herbs into the refining vessel and called anxiously,

"Sister, just hold on a little longer! The medicine is almost finished! Senior Brother has already received some yin energy—he should be able to last a little longer!"

When no reply came, she worked even faster.

Thanks to the Divine Farmer's Physique, she could sense the condition of the medicine while it was still being refined, ensuring that none of the herbs lost their medicinal properties through improper processing.

Finally, the liquid condensed to the proper consistency.

She poured it into a bowl and hurried toward Lu You.

"There's only one bowl."

"But I concentrated every yin-attributed herb into it."

"It'll definitely help."

"Even if Senior Brother can't complete the breakthrough, it should at least save his life."

One of Evil Eye's manifested arms immediately accepted the bowl.

However, instead of feeding it directly to Lu You, Evil Eye placed the bowl into Lu You's storage ring.

Using the last remnants of his consciousness, Lu You passed the medicine through the Cauldron of Cornucopia.

The next instant, Evil Eye transformed.

Its Hell Avatar covered Lu You's head completely.

Then, hidden from view, an endless stream of the yin-attributed medicine poured from the storage ring into Lu You's throat.

Blocked by the Hell Avatar, Liu Wan'er had no idea that the single bowl of medicine she had just prepared had become an inexhaustible supply.

At last...

Lu You, who had been on the verge of exploding from the excess energy, finally let out a long breath.

His body gradually returned to its normal size.

At the same time, a mysterious spiritual aura of heaven and earth flowed continuously over the surface of his body.

Although the breakthrough had nearly ended in disaster, he had successfully consumed the Bone of Hell, completely tempering his physical body to the level of a Nascent Soul cultivator.

The moment he confirmed his success, the bottleneck restraining his physical body shattered.

The power of the Bone of Hell coursed through every bone and meridian in his body, leaving him with an indescribable feeling of refreshment.

"Mmmph...!"

A muffled sound escaped Liu Yan'er.

She shot Lu You a deeply resentful look without saying a word.

Remembering that her younger sister was still nearby, she abruptly turned around and ran behind a large tree, where she began retching.

Liu Wan'er's face had become so red it looked as though steam might rise from it.

Because of her Divine Farmer's Physique, which allowed her to understand every condition and change occurring within the human body, she naturally knew exactly what had happened.

Her heart pounded violently.

Especially after seeing the expression on her sister's face...

Unable to help herself, she secretly glanced at Lu You before unconsciously pinching her own arm.

Heavens...

Sis...

You said Senior Brother Lu wasn't up to the task...

That's the biggest I've ever seen...

Lu You's senses had become even sharper after his breakthrough.

Not only did he know exactly what Liu Yan'er was doing behind the tree, but he also noticed Liu Wan'er's glance and even the small movement of her pinching her arm.

He hurriedly took a fresh set of clothes from his storage ring and dressed himself.

Then he cleared his throat, trying to move past the awkward situation.

"The painkiller worked extremely well."

"The two of you saved me this time."

"You both deserve a reward."

Lu You reached into his storage ring and took out dozens of bottles of spirit liquid along with two serpent eggs.

"Starting today, your reward is an unlimited supply of spirit liquid. In addition, I'm giving each of you a Golden Core-level demonic beast egg. I'm sure these will be even more valuable in your hands."

Unlimited spirit liquid!

Golden Core demonic beast eggs!

Liu Wan'er's mouth fell open in shock.

We've struck it rich... We've really struck it rich...

An unlimited supply of spirit liquid could reshape one's spiritual root and improve one's natural aptitude.

The Golden Core demonic beast eggs were even more astonishing.

Several powerful pill formulas immediately came to Liu Wan'er's mind—formulas that required extremely high-quality demonic beast eggs as their main ingredient.

If she could successfully refine those pills, both she and Liu Yan'er could rapidly advance into the Golden Core Realm.

Taking the eggs into her hands, Liu Wan'er suddenly trembled.

"These eggs... no... both of these eggs..."

"They actually contain bloodline power."

"They're alive!"

"If we use the proper secret techniques and soak them in medicinal solutions, we can still hatch them into Golden Core—level demonic beasts."

"Senior Brother Lu, these are far too precious."

"We can't accept something like this."

Living Golden Core demonic beast eggs!

Even Liu Yan'er, who had been too embarrassed to come out from behind the tree after finishing masturbating, was completely stunned.

She hurried over to inspect the eggs herself.

She understood exactly what a Golden Core demonic beast represented.

An adult Golden Core demonic beast at its peak, relying purely on instinct, was virtually unbeatable in a one-on-one fight against a human cultivator of the same realm.

If properly trained and taught cultivation techniques, a mature Golden Core demonic beast could even be employed as though it were a Nascent Soul expert.

Even a first-rate sect typically possessed only one or two such beasts, and they were treated as guardian divine beasts protecting the sect itself.

Lu You coughed awkwardly.

"Ahem... of course... they're still your reward."

His gaze shifted uncomfortably.

Then he spoke in a much quieter voice.

"Um... Liu Yan'er..."

"You might want to wipe your mouth first..."
