

It's been two days since the Halloween party and the weekend has finally arrived. I took advantage of the weekend to wake up later than usual and rest a bit more.

I put on some comfortable clothes and went to the bathroom, looking at myself in the mirror to see my two faces. I smiled, remembering the Halloween party, the mutant I gave my candy to, Maeve in her devil tight costume and Star in that sexy ghost costume.

I made a couple of faces in the mirror, taking advantage of my ability to make two different expressions. I bit my lip with my right head while winking and smiling with my left one to try and flirt in the mirror "I can be quite sensual if I really try to..." I said to myself.

I turned my left head's eyes to look at my right head's hair, raising my hand to comb it "Why do I always get more disheveled with this head when I sleep?" I said with my left head, while my right head got surprised for a fraction of a second in the mirror. I've had two heads for over a decade but I don't think I'll ever get used to the feeling. Probably because I know very well what it was like to have only one.

A little lost in my thoughts, I decided to trigger that sensation a couple more times. I raised my right hand, controlling it with my right brain, and quickly touched the nose of my left head. From the point of view of my left head the movement was surprising, though the surprise didn't last more than half a second before the thoughts of my two brains synchronized.

That small delay in the synchronization of my brains required several medical checkups in the past. According to the doctors, it's common for some mutants with more than one head and the delay can be greater, lesser or even absolute for cases in which they have more than one consciousness. In my case the delay is so small that most of the time I don't notice it and usually forget that it's there.

Lost in those thoughts I didn't realize that I had already brushed my teeth, cleaned myself and left the bathroom basically on autopilot. I sighed and relaxed my shoulders before walking to the kitchen to prepare something to eat.

"Mmm... as I recall, Antonella could separate her consciousness" I said, looking at my right head and hearing my voice from the left one "...I wonder if her synchronization is slower or faster than mine"

I shrugged as if answering myself while laughing "Maybe one day she can teach me how to do that trick... although I'm afraid of what another me sharing my body could do" I said with my right head laughing.

After having some breakfast, I dedicated what was left of the morning to cleaning my apartment, removing some dust and tidying up all the mess accumulated during the week. Once the house was clean, I left the cleaning supplies in the closet and wiped the sweat from my foreheads.

"Phew... on days like today I wish I had a couple more arms. Antonella should lend me at least two, I'm sure she doesn't even use all of them anyways..." As I said this, I remembered the exercise routine that Antonella, Sophie and Lucy follow for their extra limbs at the gym and I immediately regretted my words "Well... maybe I'm better off with just two"

I touched my stomach, feeling it growl with hunger as I watched the clock approach noon. With no hesitation I went to the kitchen to prepare lunch. I put my phone on the counter to look for some interesting videos to entertain myself, dedicating my left head to watch the video while I prepared my food with the right one "Ohhh..." I saw within my recommendations a video about a review of the Monster Hunter beta launch "...right! It's this weekend!"

I left the kitchen for a second to run to the living room and turn on my PC, preparing to download the beta of the game "I will have something to entertain myself with after eating hehe... I hope Antonella is online to play with me"

After finishing preparing my lunch I sat down to eat, looking at my cell phone with one of my heads while eating with the other. I looked for Antonella among my contacts to send her a message.

<< Hey Anto! How are you? Have you downloaded the beta of Monster Hunter Wilds? >> I said.

A few minutes later she replied << Hi o/ Yeah... of course, I downloaded it this morning and I was trying it out, it's pretty good >>

<< Do you want to play with me for a while? >>

<< Sure! Now? >> she replied accompanied by a heart emoji.

I looked at the mess in the kitchen and my half-finished plate and replied << I'm having lunch right now, I'll let you know in a bit, okay? >>

<< Sounds good, I've already finished lunch so I'm free. Just let me know and I'll log in >> she replied. I dropped my phone and devoted both heads to eating, finishing in a few minutes and then washing everything.

I wiped the sweat off my right forehead "Phew... it's really hot today" I said while looking at the clock "I think I'll take a shower before I start playing..."

I took off my top and pants on the way to the bathroom, leaving me completely naked. I held my phone up and took a selfie from above, pointing at my two faces. The size of my breasts made my three nipples go out of the picture frame while the rest of my body was barely visible, but the details of my wet, naked body were evident.

I sent the photo to Antonella, accompanied by the text << I'm going to take a quick shower and I'll be ready to play. Will you wait a little longer please? >>

<< JESSICAAAAA!! Why are you sending me pictures like this?!! >> she asked me followed by many blushing emoticons.

<< Oh, sorry... I wanted to show you that I was about to get in the shower... You don't like these photos? >>

<< I mean... of course I like them, yes... but...>>

While she was writing the next message, I quickly replied << They turn you on? >>

I noticed how she stopped writing for a second, and then started writing again << Yes, just take the shower so we can play >>

<< Yes ma'am! ☐ ☐ >> I replied before leaving the phone in the bathroom, taking off my panties and turning on the cold shower. I slowly got inside, lifting both of my faces to the falling water and closing my eyes. My hands rested on my breasts, enjoying the relaxing feeling of the water on my skin as I got a little lost in my thoughts.

“Gosh, I forgot to ask her about the synchronicity between her heads...” I said with my left head sighing as my hair got completely wet. I separated my necks, caressing the area between them with my hand, letting my whole body get wet before I started cleaning myself.

I looked down at my breasts, caressing each one of them and getting my cleavages wet before cleaning underneath them. I took a bit longer than necessary, playing a little with my nipples and for a moment the image of Antonella kissing them crossed my mind. I quickly shook both my heads and giggled “I guess she wasn’t the only one who got turned on...”

I knew I would end up making Antonella wait too long if I let myself go, so I finished cleaning myself up and got out of the shower. Of course, there was no reason to put on anything but my panties, so I grabbed some white panties from the dresser and put them on.

I let myself fall on my bean bag and got comfortable while I opened the game, happy to enjoy the rest of the day relaxing and playing games. With my left head I checked my phone, texting Antonella << I’m about to start >>

<< Okay, let me know when you’ve finished the tutorial >> she replied. I started a new game just like she asked, playing the tutorial and enjoying the moment. The new systems, graphics and gameplay of this game seemed brutal so far.

“I hate having to wait for the full version” I said with both heads while pouting. After a few intense minutes I managed to unlock the multiplayer mode, finding Antonella in my friend list and inviting her to play. We quickly started a call to organize our equipment and talk more fluently.

“Hey Anto!” I said with my left head, leaving my microphone nearby so I could use both heads to talk.

“Hello!” she replied, ringing through my speakers with a typical giggle of hers “Are you ready?”

“Yep!” I said, taking my bow and preparing for combat “Can you hear yourself on my microphone?”

“Nope, everything sounds fine... ohh! Are you going with your bow?” she said, running in circles with her character.

I noticed that she was carrying a glaive on her back “Yeah, as usual... although I see that you are leaving the dual daggers?”

“Oh hehehe. Something like that, I’m practicing with the Glaive” she replied, clicking ‘ready’ to start the game.

During the combat we got used to the different mechanics of the game and the parts that had been innovated compared to the previous titles. There was no shortage of laughter, mistakes and funny moments, though Antonella seemed too skilled with the glaive.

“Since when are you as good with the Glaive as you were with the dual daggers?” I asked her.

“Oh, yeah... well... I learned how to use it a while ago. Although I can only use it properly when I use my tail to control my hands... I need both heads for the task, since my tail head is really bad with the rest of the mechanics” she replied.

“Oh, I usually dedicate one pair of eyes to monitoring my HP and stamina or looking at the map while using the other head to focus on the character... which head did you record your muscle memory on?” I asked her.

“Oh, that depends on which weapon I’m using...” she said.

“Huh, really? Have you learned different weapons with your heads?” I asked her somewhat surprised.

“Yeah, you know how it is... we can share information from one brain to the other but the muscle memory for controlling your limbs is different... I’m more precise moving my lower arms with my tail versus my main head, for example” she said.

“That makes sense... you have a lot of arms for just one brain”

“Yep! You understand me better than anyone hehe!”

“Watch out for this attack,” I said as we both distanced ourselves from the monster, playing around while talking “Speaking of which... I have a question I’ve never asked you before...”

“Yeah? Go AHEAD hehe” she replied, giggling as she did a flip in the air and attacked the monster. I realized how convenient it is to play with another multi headed girl who’s able to talk without distracting herself.

“Haha, nice pun there” I said laughing “So...have you had medical tests to evaluate the communication delay between your heads?”

“Oh, do you mean how long it takes me to perceive with one head what the other is thinking?” she asked me.

“Yeah, sometimes it takes me half a second to perceive it and I can even surprise myself, though it only lasts for less than a second”

“Oh yeah, it happens to me all the time. I have almost a second and a half of delay...” she said, “...so sometimes I can even scare myself with my own reactions”

"That sounds fun," I said laughing.

"For those who see it, yeah, but not for me... I feel stupid being scared or surprised of MY OWN actions, you know?" she told me. Meanwhile, the monster in our game started to run away from our constant attacks and we had to track it down while we talked. It was funny to see how we used gestures, animations and signals to communicate in-game without stopping our voice chat.

"Hahaha, I want to see that someday" I said laughing. I heard her protest in front of her microphone "To make fun of me?"

"No, actually, I think it's kind of cool... is the delay because of the distance between your heads?"

"I don't think so, nerve signals travel at the speed of light after all. For light the distance between your heads and mine is nothing..." she told me in a rather nerdy tone.

"I guess you studied that a lot" I said laughing.

"Well, I write about mutants and I'm one myself... so I studied a little, yes. As I understand it, it varies from mutant to mutant and it doesn't depend on the distance between your heads, so it's just coincidence than mine are further apart than yours"

"I see! Good job by the way" I said as we celebrated over the defeated monster "So tell me, how do you separate your consciousnesses?"

"Mmm... how do I explain it to you?" she replied, pausing "You need a lot of meditation. Focus on imagining your brains as two separate parts that you can manipulate."

While we waited in the lobby for the next mission, I concentrated on what she said and closed my eyes for a second "Yes, I think I understand what you mean... I can feel them, even kind of seeing them in my mind"

"I usually imagine myself floating in front of my two streams of thoughts, as if they were two rivers full of water running separately" she told me. I arched an eyebrow, thinking about it a bit "Yeah, I think I understand what you mean"

"Then after meditating for a while I could feel the thoughts that flow between one brain and another, and well... restrict it" she told me in a soft tone so as to not break my concentration.

"I-I think I can feel what you're saying... but I don't know how I could restrict it. It seems more like a waterfall of information" I told her.

"Oh wow... that's a good way to describe it, your heads seem to be in a much stronger synchrony than mine" she told me "although it's not impossible... it just requires some practice"

"As far as I researched about it, not all mutants can..." I said, preparing the next mission.

"That's what people with only one head say... You know?" she said, laughing.

"That's true, haha... although isn't it dangerous to do it too much? Don't you run the risk of your thought streams losing synchrony forever?"

"Nothing has happened to me and I have the feeling that I will be completely fine, but I'm not an expert on other people's bodies..."

"It scares me a little, to be honest" I told her. Already in the mission we began to hunt the next monster. Antonella moved with total grace through the air, dodging the attacks while dealing damage. I kept my distance, dealing constant damage and taking advantage to support Antonella's attacks.

"Jess, it's not something you are forced to do as a two headed mutant, you know? You can play with me now while we have a separate conversation with our extra heads. What more could you ask for?" she said to me.

I smiled "I think you're right... Do you think I would be dangerous if my heads were unsynchronized?"

"Dangerous for who? For yourself surely not, to those around you... maybe" she said laughing.

"Ha haaaaaaa very funny..." I replied "Now that I think about it, I've never seen you use that trick in front of me"

"Of course not... my tail can get, well... a little out of control" she said to my surprise "I don't repress my thoughts much when it's out of sync"

"I want to have a conversation with her then... hehe" As we talked, we finished killing the second monster of the day without much difficulty. We seemed as coordinated in the game as we were in our conversation. It was almost as if there were four people interacting.

We both stopped after that fight to simply talk "Why are you so interested in doing that?"

"Mmm... well, it's something I never really tried until I heard that you had done it, how did you discover that you could do it?" I said.

"I... uhm... well, if you want I can tell you the whole story someday" she replied.

I looked at the time and smiled "Sure... how about you bring your PC to my apartment and we have a girls' gaming weekend?"

I heard her go silent. I'd like to invite Sophie and Lucy too but since they're still flying back from Japan, and Antonella spent her Halloween alone, I thought it would be a good idea to invite her.

"...Sleepover too? Today and tomorrow?" she asked me.

"Sure! My bed is spacious!" I replied.

"I'm sure you won't give me much room anyway..." she said somewhat doubtfully. I just replied laughing.

"Well, that's fine with me. But only under one condition" she said.

"Yeah?"

"Put some clothes on... your breasts distract me if you don't cover them" she said protesting.

"How do you know I'm not wearing anything...?!"

"The Jessica I know would never put on clothes to relax and play after taking a shower..." she said laughing.

"Wow... you got me. Okay, I'll put some clothes on, worst case scenario you give me one of those six hands of yours to take them off"

"I think I'm already regretting it..."

"Just kidding, just kidding... shall I wait for you?" I asked.

"Sure, I'll be on my way" she said, ending the call.

"This is going to be a weekend of games... hehe" I said, standing up and jumping around a bit happily. Then I looked down and pouted with both heads "I hope I can convince her to let me go topless sometime... there's nothing she hasn't seen before anyway"

That weekend we played Monster Hunter and watched some movies. Though I might tell you the details another time!