

It was a hot summer weekend and the group of girls were gathered at a small vacation house that belongs to Maeve's parents, which was located on the outskirts of Port Solei. Since her parents took a week of vacation, Maeve invited her new group of friends to enjoy a good lunch and a break away from the hustle and bustle of the city.

"How often did you say your parents go on vacation?" Jessica asked while laughing, looking at the sizable patio and the large pool with a jacuzzi attached to it. The area was very tidy and clean.

"Once a year at least" Maeve replied as she settled into her long seat next to the outside table where they had lunch "Although we can come anyway if they are there, it wouldn't bother them. I think you all would get along."

"I hope so, I'd like to meet them too" Sophie said.

"Have they taken your mutation well? It doesn't seem like they bought many things for your comfort" Lucy said, pointing towards Maeve's seat.

"Oh, yeah... they've only seen me once since then and they've already bought this seat for me, though I've gotten my measurements wrong and it's a little too small for me" Maeve replied, shaking her tail which was hanging off the seat.

"I haven't seen my parents either since I told them that I mutated... in fact, I don't think they even know how I look now" Antonella said. The girls turned to look at her with some surprise "Really!?" Jessica and Maeve said at the same time in shock.

"Y-Yeah... they weren't really fans of mutants. Even though they were born in Port Solei, they moved away from here for that reason but I stayed for work reasons. I do love mutants, as you would assume" Antonella answered, giggling and stroking her tail-head which rested on her lap.

"But... aren't you an erotic writer? From the Mutant Monthly, right?" Maeve asked, sounding somewhat worried. Antonella shrugged "Yeah, but I doubt they'd make the connection... they would be the last ones to actually buy a mutant porn magazine, you know?"

The girls laughed in agreement "That's a good point..." Lucy said.

"They felt disgusted towards a girl with long ears, imagine if they saw me now... I preferred not to tell them the details" Antonella replied, waving her six hands and raising her tail.

"Yeah, I think all of our mutations would be quite visually striking for them" Jessica said, tilting both of her heads in resignation.

Sophie leaned against Antonella to rest her head on her shoulder "Don't worry about what they think, you're one of the prettiest mutants we've ever seen" Sophie said "I agree" Lucy added "Besides, having only two arms is boring... your six arms are great."

"Gee... thanks" Maeve said, crossing her single pair of arms.

“Looks like we’re boring” Jessica said, pouting on both of her faces.

Antonella looked at Sophie and Lucy and the three of them shrugged before laughing altogether.

“They didn’t deny it!” Jessica said.

“I think I’ll add some extra reps next week at the gym. Precisely in arms...” Maeve said. Lucy and Antonella were about to complain before Sophie nodded “Good... come on girls, don’t complain... it’ll be healthy for us.”

“I’d tell you to do it yourself if you like it so much but you drag me everywhere” Lucy said protestingly.

“And thanks to me you have a healthy body” Sophie said. Lucy just looked away while smiling. Maeve stood up to serve more cold drinks to the girls, using her tail to hold the pitcher while she poured into the glasses with precision “Now that you mention it, I know little about your family histories and your mutations... What’s the story of the conjoined twins of the group?”

Sophie and Lucy looked at each other and nodded “Long story short, we were born in Argentina” Sophie said “And we were born mutants, just like you see us now...” Lucy added.

“Ohh... so you don’t know what it’s like to live without sharing a body?” Maeve said “That must be interesting, haven’t you ever been curious about it?”

Sophie and Lucy shook their heads in denial “We’ve thought about it, but it’s a scenario that causes some panic in our minds” Sophie said.

“Panic?” Maeve asked. Both Antonella and Jessica were enjoying their drinks, listening to the conversation despite knowing the story.

“Thinking about being apart from Sophie doesn’t make me feel free, just empty” Lucy replied.

“Exactly” Sophie added “It’s terrifying to think about it.”

Maeve nodded “Wow, I’ve never seen it like that but it makes sense, each one is part of the other and you wouldn’t be the same without both of you present.”

Sophie nodded “Yeah... as for our family, they still live in Argentina and they don’t have a problem with mutants. Still, we were probably one of the few mutants in the city, and surely the most extreme ones. We ended up moving here because we got a job in the mutant lab as secretaries, then we got our job as models for Undine” Lucy said with a nod before finishing the sentence “Our parents visit us sometimes and sometimes we visit them. It depends on the time of year, but we honestly feel like home here”

Maeve seemed happy to know more about them “That’s great! So, in theory you have no memories of getting a mutation in your entire shared life”

“Not at all, this is our norm...” Sophie said “In fact, medically we are a two-headed mutant, it’s just that our brains never synchronized” Lucy added.

“Wow... but you finish each other’s sentences so easily” Maeve replied.

“That’s because they spent their whole life together” Antonella said. Sophie and Lucy winked confirming it.

Maeve looked at them all “I never thought having a group of mutant friends would be so fun” she said while laughing “What about you, Jessica?”

Jessica put her drink down on the table and looked up, thinking “Let’s see, where do I start...” she said with her right head “I was born as a mutant with three breasts... then I had a second mutation that made me grow my extra head” she added, touching the cheek of her left head with a finger to indicate which one was the new one.

“Wow, that must have been overwhelming” Maeve said.

“Yeah, it sure is...” Antonella said.

“Growing a whole new head and getting used to it can be a long process” Jessica said “It can be fun though, and it ends up being way more useful than any other body part.”

Maeve nodded, staying silent while Jessica continued “As for my family, my parents live a couple of hours away by plane. I moved here even before my second mutation. My original town was very small, in fact, I was the only mutant there and they found it kind of uncomfortable to be in front of me. You know...” Jessica said, gesturing to her three breasts and the size of them “...they are quite distracting to anyone who isn’t used to it.”

The girls laughed as Maeve looked down at Jessica’s breasts “Yeah, I can understand why.”

“Shortly afterwards I moved here and opened my hair salon, and shortly after that my second mutation occurred. I adapted to it for a few weeks and then visited my parents again” Jessica said, switching from one head to the other to continue explaining “They never had any rejection for mutants, although they did have a certain... ignorance. My mother told me that Port Solei had infected me with some virus and that was why I grew ‘another me’. Neither my father nor my mother manage to understand the concept of a hive mind, so even today they don’t understand how I feel, since for them it’s impossible that I am just me in both heads... my mother even refers to me as ‘her daughters’.”

“That must be annoying” Antonella said. Jessica shrugged “I can’t blame them, it’s all very new to them. They never see mutants even on TV.”

Maeve walked up behind her and wrapped her arms around Jessica’s shoulders, tucking her head between Jessica’s two heads as she rested her cold drink on the cheek of Jessica’s right head. “I think we all fit in well in Port Solei then...” Jessica smiled and nodded.

Lucy raised her glass in the air “Here we have our mutant family” she said warmly. Sophie smiled, moving the hand holding the glass to emphasize what Lucy said “The one chosen by ourselves.”

Antonella, Jessica, and Maeve quickly brought their glasses closer, gently tapping them against Sophie and Lucy's, then drinking their sodas. Finally, Jessica stood up and stretched with her back facing the pool.

"So... Can we use the pool?" Jessica asked. Maeve nodded "Of course, that's what it's for... I'll just go put my swimsuit on and jump in the water too."

"My goodness... your cannonball must be massive now" Lucy said.

"Are you calling me fat, Lucy?" Maeve said. Sophie could only laugh "Ey, my sister has a point... you have to admit that."

Maeve looked over her shoulder at her body and then back at the girls, kicking the ground with one of her back legs "I'm shaped like a horse but I don't have its mass, I'm way smaller and I'm fit...!"

"No one said anything about horses" Lucy said teasingly, raising all four hands innocently. The three girls laughed as they retreated inside with their bags to put on their swimsuits, still discussing it.

Jessica stood by Antonella's side, watching as she relaxed in the chair "Aren't you going to change to go in?" Jessica asked.

Antonella shook her head while her main head closed her eyes "No, I didn't know Maeve had a pool and I didn't bring my swimsuits..." she said with her tail, finishing the sentence with her main head "Besides, I'm not a big fan of the sun and it's shining directly into the water"

Jessica looked at her for a few seconds before grabbing her tail by surprise from her cheeks, lifting it to Antonella's surprise "Anto, you're going in even if you're naked... come on" she said, taking Antonella by one of her hands and putting her on her feet. Antonella tried hard to stop her "N-No, Jessica... wait."

Jessica stopped and turned to her, taking her by the shoulders "I'm not going to lose a relaxing and refreshing day at the pool with one of my best friends just because she didn't bring a swimsuit, come on... we can put something together and you can even use my sunscreen if the sun is annoying for you."

Antonella hesitated for a few seconds but after seeing Jessica's sad expressions she shook her heads "Okay, fine... sorry. I'll go in."

"Nice, nice, niiice!~" Jessica said, leading her by the hand towards the bedroom. Antonella could only look at her with a smile on her faces, seeing how her spirit had risen.

Without asking, Jessica burst into the bedroom, finding Sophie, Lucy and Maeve half naked. Antonella immediately covered her four eyes with her hands while Jessica explained the situation without giving importance to the girls' nakedness.

"Oh right, we brought an extra swimsuit just in case..." Sophie said as they went to their bag and pulled out a black leotard-type swimsuit.

"It's our size but it could work" Lucy said, handing it to Antonella. She stood in shock, looking at the four bare breasts of the conjoined twins in front of her. She could only nod as within a minute the other girls had changed and headed out to the pool. Antonella sighed, looking down at herself with her tail and began to change.

Minutes later the girls were floating in the pool and enjoying the cool water as Antonella stepped out in her swimsuit "Uhm... girls..." she said walking slowly "I don't know if this is a good idea..."

Antonella's leotard swimsuit could barely contain her breasts, not because of their size but because of their quantity. As it went down towards her groin the suit got smaller and Antonella's lower breasts struggled to keep her nipples hidden behind the fabric.

"Woaaaaah..." Lucy said "I guess we didn't take that into consideration..." Sophie said, touching her lips.

"I think... it looks good on you" Jessica said, getting out of the pool to help her.

"I think if I move too much..." Antonella said nervously. Before she could finish her sentence, the tension of the fabric made the swimsuit dig in between her lower pair of breasts, exposing them along with her middle ones "AH... NOO!" Antonella shrieked, totally embarrassed and using her arms to cover herself.

"It lasted less than expected..." Jessica said, helping Antonella by using her hands to pull the fabric and trying to get it back into position.

The other girls floated towards the edge closest to the pool "I thought our largest size would make up for that" Lucy said "It should but it gets too small down and her lower breasts are left without support" Sophie replied.

"I see I'm not the only one struggling to fit my clothes" Maeve said. Even Antonella laughed, resigned to the situation.

"I don't think it will work" Jessica said after several attempts of struggling to fix the swimsuit "I think you're going to have to make use of those extra arms of yours and use them to cover your boobs..."

"Or don't and just leave them exposed... they won't be as visible under water" Sophie said. Lucy nodded before the duo got distracted, climbing on Maeve's lower back and surprising her.

"Hey! What are you doing?" Maeve protested, trying to get them down.

"Yeey... new mount acquired" Lucy said. Sophie laughed, covering her mouth and letting her sister take control.

"Lucy, this isn't an rpg!" Maeve said, walking on the bottom of the pool on all four legs while the girls held on to her "I'm not a mount, get down!"

Antonella and Jessica watched the interaction for a few seconds before Jessica noticed the expression on Antonella's tail "Are you okay?" she asked.

Antonella thought about it for a few seconds "If it wasn't you all I wouldn't be comfortable..."

"I guess that's good, isn't it?" Jessica said, laughing gently.

"If being the chaotic variable in my life equation is a good thing, then it's really good" Antonella said.

Jessica looked at her confused "Huh?"

"It means I love you all..." Antonella said laughingly while still covering her exposed breasts with her hands "Can you put some sunscreen on me?"

Jessica smiled happily and turned around to grab the sunscreen from the edge of the pool and started to spread it all over Antonella's back and neck, continuing down her tail and both of her faces "Even though this suit doesn't fit, it looks very sexy on you."

"Everything is sexy for you, Jess" Antonella said, feeling Maeve finish covering her back with sunscreen. Jessica leaned against Antonella, resting her three breasts against her back and blowing on Antonella's main head's ears which made her tense up, only to then whisper "Especially this redheaded mutant~..." before pushing Antonella into the pool.

The girls in the water watched in slow motion as Antonella fell chaotically into the water with six hands reaching up to the surface, moving erratically before both of her heads emerged.

"Ugh... cough... cough... JESSICA!" Antonella yelled before looking up just to see Jessica, who jumped and was midair before she landed in the water next to her and quickly emerged to hold Antonella by her shoulders.

"Hehe... I made you release your boobs!" Jessica said laughingly as she pushed her towards the girls, who welcomed her.

An hour later. Jessica, Sophie and Lucy were relaxing on the edge of the pool as they watched Maeve and Antonella splash around and play while laughing. Antonella sank down, letting her tail outside of the water to breathe as Maeve felt her touch on her legs and tensed up.

"Thanks Jessica..." Sophie said. Lucy turned her gaze back to the conversation.

"Thanks for what?" Jessica asked, turning one head to watch the girls and the other to talk to Sophie.

"For helping Antonella. She needs help to get out of her comfort zone a little."

"That's why we're a family, right?" Jessica said "Besides, I know you guys would do the same for her or me."

"Hehe, true" Lucy said "But Antonella has changed a lot, she looks a lot happier."

“That’s good, you three weren’t there for the Halloween party and you really made us miss you all...” Jessica said, looking at Sophie and Lucy and throwing water at them with some anger “You two even went to Japan and didn’t bring us any souvenirs!”

“Hey, we did bring them. We’ll give them to you later... we keep forgetting” Sophie said, covering her face and laughing.

“But only if you behave” Lucy said, laughing a little. Jessica stopped and giggled softly “I promise to be a veeeery good girl” she said in a sensual tone.

“Oh no... you woke up that side of Jess again, sis” Sophie said.

“Oops...” Lucy said laughingly.

Hours later as the sun began to set, the girls, exhausted, said ‘goodbye’ at the door of the house, heading towards their respective homes and planning when the next time they would meet would be.
