

Diego Mentiras

The Silver Devil of Gostar

Spoilers Ahead for the Western Oneshot I will be running for my Gigachad Goblins

For the past 6 months, Diego Mentiras has plagued the lands of Gostar, conducting every law defiling act a single being can commit.

This silver scaled dragonborn has been titled “Outlaw of the Week”, every week for the past half a year, and now is about to commit the biggest heist he has ever taken on. The Silver Devil of Gostar is about to rob the head of an Öknorai, more commonly known as a Time Dragon.

See, Diego Mentiras, was a simpler man once, with a simpler life and a loving wife. But he threw it all away. Despite his wife’s warnings to leave him, at one stage, Diego went out to pursue a life of crime. He had always dreamed of being a famous outlaw like in the stories he grew up on. His wife threatened to leave him, even before he began to chase this dream, but for some reason, couldn’t bring herself to do it.

Diego built up enemies, and one day, they found his home and killed his wife. Now, a normal man, at this stage might see this as a sign to stop, to honour his wife’s wishes, and pack up this dream for good. But Diego, no Diego saw it as a sign to finish what he started. He used this moment to push himself more than ever to reach that goal, or it would have all been for nothing. And so he did, and he went wild.

Diego gathered criminals from far and wide to form The Silver Snake Gang. They toppled governments and robbed kings blind. And then, when he finally felt like he had made it to the top of the food chain, he decided, “Yes, this is enough”.

Now Diego is searching for a way to reset his life, have a second chance, and turn back the clocks. He has learned of the recent death of an Öknorai, and has sent his gang to receive the head. In the meantime, he has been researching ways to harness the powers of a time dragon who has passed. If he can find an artefact that can manipulate souls and use them as arcane fuel, he believes this should be enough to spark a charge of magic from the Öknorai, and launch him back to that fateful moment he ruined his wife's life.

His dream is to return to her, now fulfilled with chasing his dream, and live out the rest of his days on a ranch, sipping lemonade with his wife.

Diego is pathetic, despicable and will do anything to get his way. Now that he is so close to the finish line, he is happy to do anything, just to stay alive so he can return. It doesn't matter how bad things get, he knows it can all eventually be undone, if he can just complete this plan. Everyone and everything will be used as cannon fodder, if it means seeing his wife again.