

“Come here, plaything.” Your hypnotist said, holding their arms out to you. You had been kneeling for... You didn’t know, you had lost track of time. So, you eagerly let them wrap you in their embrace. “That’s it... Let me take care of you, and your silly brain.” They said, softly.

It was so easy to relax into them. “You don’t need to think right now.” They were right. “No. Just sink for me. Just sink into me. There we go. Let your body relax.” You felt your limbs grow heavy, as they pulled you closer, laying down on the bed. “Let your brain shut down.”

You had no resistance at this point, you were just sinking, and drifting, and dropping deeper for them. “You’re such a good toy for me, aren’t you? Yeah... My good toy.” They said, as you nodded your head into their shoulder. “My obedient plaything.”

It felt so good to be so close to them. “Always so eager to give in for me. To let my words wrap effortlessly around your mind, and pull you deep, deep into trance.” You felt that tug at your brain. “Because it feels so nice! Why wouldn’t you break your brain like this?”
