

“Ah, hold still, toy. I’m going to extract every part of your mind. Every little bit of control.” Your eyes rolled as your hypnotist propped you up. You could just about see them staring into your eyes, but you couldn’t focus. Your mind was too far gone, your body too relaxed.

“Let’s start with your thoughts, shall we? Feel them pulled out as I draw my hand back.” They pinched at your temple, and began to pull their hand back. As they did, you could feel your thoughts being dragged out of your head, slowly at first, and then quicker.

Before long, they were all gone. Your mouth was hanging open, your mind now blank. Unable to think. “And next... Let’s take your energy.” They did the same motion again, pulling their hand back. And this time, you felt yourself being drained. Your body felt like lead.

Your body sagged, and they laughed, as they finished the motion. Their hand was the only thing holding you up now. Their other hand cupped your chin, bringing your face up to meet theirs. They planted a soft kiss on your lips, smiling. “That’s it. You look so good like this.”

After a moment of struggling, you managed to focus your gaze on them. “All blank, and empty. Nothing left in that mind... Well. Nothing you can use. One more pull should do it, then you’ll be truly mine.” They moved their hand from your chin to your temple. “Are you ready, toy?”

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #control #brainwashing #obedience