

It started with one of your partner's fingers running through your hair. A gentle sensation on your scalp, sending tingling sensations down your spine. And then the rest of their hand joined in. each finger teasing tension out of your body with a gentle motion.

Your eyes rolled back slightly. You smiled at the pleasant sensation. "That's it. Just let yourself get lost in it for a while, my love. You don't need to think right now, do you?" They said. You shook your head slightly, the motion joining the motion of their fingers.

The sensation was making it hard to think. Each tingle was like a bubble, disturbing the smooth surface of the lake that was your mind. "No... no thinking. Just sinking for me." They said. "Just let yourself go. It's so easy to relax. To be blank, and empty, and obedient."

Your eyelids were fluttering now. The sensations their fingers were sending through your body were so hard to resist. It felt so good to get lost in these feelings. "Just dancing deeper into mindlessness until you..." Their fingers pulled tight in your hair, and you sank. "Drop."

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #control #hairpull #induction