

“Burst.” Your hypnotist said the word and... What- what had you been talking about? You looked blankly up at them. “Oops. Did you forget what we were talking about?” They asked. “That’s pretty silly. I was asking you a question. And it’s really easy. What’s your name?”

“Burst.” “The word hit your brain and – huh? What was going on? “Oh, what’s wrong? Did you forget what we were talking about honey?” You nodded, you had. They smiled graciously at you. “Oh, it’s okay. I was just asking you a question. An easy one. What’s your name?”

“Burst.” You felt so fuzzy, until your hypnotist grabbed you by the hair. “God, idiot. Are you so stupid that you forgot the conversation we were just having?” You stammered out an answer. “Fuck. I don’t know why I bother trying. Again. What’s your name?”
