Chapter 10

From below we could see smoke, rubble and them.

Sam gasped and looked at me in shock.

“How many more do you want... Aren’t I enough?” She said angrily.

“I... I...” I barely was able to stammer.

From below there were multiple growing giants, tens of them, maybe even hundreds. Large sections of the city were now in rubble and from the dust clouds I could see the growing beauties. Each of them was afflicted in a different area of growth, some bellies, some thighs, arms, and all of them gaining in mass. They were all different colours, each probably linked to the object they were at the start, from this height, impossible to tell.

As quickly as they started, they stopped, and they all turned towards Sam.

No, that isn't quite right... Me?

Now they started to walk towards Sam.

They could never scale Sam... Could they?

My answer was quickly answered by them starting to all grow anew.

“Sam!” I yelped.

Sam looked down beneath her monumental chest and laughed.

“They will never have you.”

A giant shadow loomed over the both of us. In awe, Sam turned around and she saw the three girls from earlier. Sam’s massive height only had her up to Regina’s navel, Daisy’s Ass and Valerie’s thighs.

“He’s mine.” Regina said, her massive stomach colliding with Sam’s face, her head almost getting swallowed up by her belly button, Sam stumbled backwards and nearly lost her footing.

“No, mine.” Daisy chimed in, her ass colliding with Sam from behind, the huge cheeks this time taking her down.

Sam fell towards the floor breast first. The earthquake the residents of the city must’ve felt from her huge boobs crashing down must’ve been immense. They were soft enough to cushion the impact for Sam but anything under them was flattened. Sprawling rapidly on the ground trying to take the weight of her body, they surged over the land, crushing and flattening the city. Daisy followed through with her bump and her cheeks now pinned Sam to the ground, each one was capable enough to flatten an entire neighbourhood at this point I wagered.

Sam’s body was pinned between her tits and Daisy’s ass, her grip remained firm on me however, thankfully. I was safe, barely, I looked at Sam’s face, winced in pain.

I was lost, seemingly the only person willing to save me was now incapacitated. I looked around for a means of helping or an escape and I could see the hordes of giant appliance human hybrids stomping their way towards us on the floor.

There is no escape.

“Finally.” I heard Valerie’s voice.

She was tall, extremely tall, even for Sam. I felt my body be subjected to copious amounts of G-force as she plucked me from Sam’s grip. Looking down was difficult, there was a layer of cloud that we were now above. Valerie looked at me with such intent, I knew exactly what she wanted to do.

“You tasted great...” She licked her lips slowly and moved closer to me. “Let me sample some more...”

Her long tongue wrapped around my body, and she pulled me into her mouth, the cavern was immense, dark and wet. I waited and waited for her to chew or to swallow me, however she just sucked on me lightly for a few moments before releasing me again into her hand. I was slick with her saliva, dripping with it. She smirked and smiled at me in the palm of her hand.

“I don’t want it to be over too quickly.” She winked.

Her hand rose to her relatively flat chest, and she started to play with her nipples, and she held me high above her mouth and slowly lowered me into her gaping maw. The diameter of her mouth was immense, the size of her was just wholly indescribable, I just felt one thing.

Fear.

I knew this was it, the end of my time on this earth was drawing near, depending on how many times she would toy with me, it could be minutes or hours, but Valerie was my end.

Drawing nearer to her mouth, I felt the warm breath rise and warm my cold body, passing the horizon of her lips, I found myself oddly lucid. My body was placed on her tongue, and I remained there as she started to moan. Her tongue started to swirl me around her mouth gently, apparently my body inside of her was enough to get her off. Her breathing quickened; her gasps became shallower. Her mouth remained open mostly, I had a good view of the inside of her mouth. It was vast.

Another orgasm from Valerie and the lights went out, her mouth closed. I was stranded in darkness, my centre of gravity had changed but I hadn't moved much, I was definitely still in her mouth, at least I hoped.

Light started to break between her lips, and I saw something I wasn't expecting.

Regina and Daisy, Valerie had bent over, and I was now looking at the three large orbs below covering Sam. Two cheeks spread one end and a belly on the other. They laughed and tormented the ultra-busty Sam. I felt defeat, my protector being crushed and me trapped in the mouth of Valerie.

That is when something happened. The two girls felt it immediately, they were catapulted off of Sam. Rapidly Sam was growing, her breasts bulged out from her body, and they swelled across the floor, within seconds they had doubled in size, crushing the two giants and with great speed, Sam grew. She managed to get onto her feet, her boobs still resting on the floor, spreading over the city before her. On her way up, she grabbed Valerie by the throat.

"Spit him out. Now." She commanded.

The steadily dwarfed giant complied and spat me out onto Sam's waiting hand. The other hand, still gripping Valerie, plunged her deep into her cleavage, the massive woman was swallowed whole by the country sized breasts. Still Sam grew, more and more, I was but an ant in her hand she looked down at me with a victorious glare.

"I told you; you are mine and mine alone."

Somehow that comforted me, the biggest giantess was protective over me, I thanked my lucky stars.

"I do wonder how you taste though... Valerie seemed to enjoy you... Maybe I'll give it a go...”
