

“Oops, got your thoughts!” Your hypnotist said, pulling their hand away from your forehead, holding it clasped shut. They giggled as you blinked up at them, mind suddenly foggy, and hazy. “You didn’t need them anyway. Let me just...” They cast their hand over their shoulder.

You felt your thoughts be thrown away. What had been haziness was now blankness, an empty void of thought. “Awh, you look so cute like that. All empty, and blank. Well, don’t worry, we can fill that brain back up with lots of things!” They placed their hand back on your forehead.

“Obedience!” Their palm pressed harder. Your eyes rolled, and you felt your mind rewiring, you wanted to listen. You wanted to do what you were told. “Arousal!” Another press of their palm. You felt tingles throughout your body. Lust, began, swirling in your brain.

“Adoration!” Your forehead was pushed again, and you blinked, looking up at them... They... Oh they looked so good. Their smile was divine. Their eyes looked like golden pools of light. You... You wanted to do whatever they said. The idea of it turned you on. You had to please them.

They pulled their hand away, still grinning down at you. “There we go! It’s so easy to rebuild your brain, however I desire. Today, I just want you obedient, aroused, and adoring.” They leant down, planting a kiss on your forehead. “And you love it, don’t you?”

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #brainwashing #control #submission