

<https://linktr.ee/GrowingDesires>

1,259 words.

<Backfired>

by <Growing Desires>

Chapter 7

Valerie had suddenly shot up and now was standing around fifty feet tall, I was cradled to her modest chest and peering over her arms down at the two women below, it was a long drop.

I gulped and looked back up at Valerie.

“Thank you for saving me.” I said with as much innocence as I could muster.

“I didn’t do it for you.” She gave a devilish smirk.

I saw her hand, which was the size of my torso, come flying towards me. I flinched and let out a soft yelp. Her long fingers traced my body and stroked my legs.

“You are so... Small...” Valerie said, her eyes looking a bit lost and out of focus. “Who does Regina think she is? Trying to eat you? That fat cow.” She tutted, “If anyone is going to eat you, then it’s me.”

“I heard that, you tall bitch!” Regina shouted.

Valerie tipped herself forward and looked down at the shorter two women and started to bicker.

I saw this as my chance.

I wriggled quickly out of Valerie's grasp and slid down her body, the sensation made her laugh as I must've tickled her body on the descent. It was a long ride but thankfully I was able to keep a tight grip on her plastic body. Speeding towards the floor, I knew that it wouldn't be safe, so I took a jump about halfway down her calf and quickly rushed into the house. Not knowing where else to go.

I ran across the hallway and turned around to look at the front door. I saw Valerie's eye, the size of most of the door staring at me. Her face had turned red.

"You worthless piece of shit. How dare you deny me!" She roared.

Her voice shook my diaphragm and I fell to the floor, sitting on my ass, I could only stare as her long hand squeezed its way through the front door and she started to reach for me on the floor. Fear kept me on the floor, I almost let her get me, but I jumped up and ran towards the back door.

I crashed into the door, it was locked, a regular pain. The safety of residents meant that it had to be locked at all times; right now was not the time to fuss with the code to unlock it. Valerie's hand was crashing through the door frame and her long arm was snaking down the hallway to me at a rapid pace, her fingers feeling their way around the walls like a bug's antenna. It was only a matter of time until she caught me, I remained still and stared at the giant hand as it drew ever closer.

Before her large fingertips made contact with my skin, they stopped, suddenly. I heard a screech from the doorway, it was hard to tell what it was, but the hand quickly withdrew and there seemed to be some sort of altercation outside.

Seems that the two of them are fighting out there.

I turned back around and started to fiddle with the code for the door. The light on the terminal turned green and there was a buzzing sound, I pulled the door and hastily made my exit.

With a huge soft thud, I bounced backwards onto my back. Looming over me were two giant tan leather orbs with a large crevice between them. Looking above the horizon of these massive spheres, I saw Daisy's face appearing over what I now know to be her ass.

Her massive, huge and towering ass. She wasn't as tall as Valerie, but she was as blessed in the rear as Sam was in her chest. I could only lay there and stare as I saw an evil lust filled smirk cross her face before those huge orbs started to fall towards my body on the floor.

"Shit!" I exclaimed just before I felt the heavy impact of Daisy's giant ass spread over my body.

Thankfully it wasn't too painful as I was inserted more between her crevice than being smothered by either cheek. The pressure from her giant body was enough to keep me pinned to the floor, my fleshy prison. I heard her voice boom above me.

"Well, while those two fight on who gets to play with you, I think I'll have my turn." She giggled. "There is something about being so close to you... Something that makes me feel like I could just... Explode!" Daisy moaned.

Her ass crack was the length of my torso, my body was sitting rather snug between her cheeks as it was, but something then happened that caused me to gasp. She was growing.

"Do you feel it? You are having this effect on me, I'm sure." Daisy added, she was now starting to gyrate her hips on my body.

By the second I could feel her cheeks starting to pump up and grow on top of my body. My hands were trying to push my body free, but I couldn't get any sort of meaningful grip and at best I was just groping the growing giantess. Each press of my small hands into her flesh elicited a moan, I can't lie that it was starting to turn me on. As Daisy grew, I felt her body spreading more over mine, my cock was still exposed and very hard at this point. Her pussy was starting to rub against my cock and that was causing her to moan even more. She slipped it between her warm folds and started to bounce on my rigid member, each thunderous crash against my body expelling increasing amounts of breath from my lungs. She hadn't stopped growing.

Despite my now comparatively small member to her ever-growing body, she managed to cum on top of me. Panting heavily, the full weight of her still growing behind was laid bare on my body. I however had not yet had the opportunity to cum once more, I laid there aroused and scared for my life as her cheeks continued their growth and were slowly starting to cover my face.

I slapped against her ass in an attempt to get her attention, but it was no use, she was too lost in her post orgasm bliss.

"Daisy!" I yelled to no avail.

There was a sudden surge of growth and as her ass ballooned, it lifted her body higher above mine, my body slotting neatly between her ass crack and entirely consumed by its firm giant mass.

"Oh... I can feel you wriggling in there" Daisy's voice was barely audible to me at this point. "Why don't you... Go in... Then we will never be apart, and we can see how big you can make me."

Go in...

The weight of her body increased, and I was being swallowed towards her waiting hole. I could feel her sensitive hole start to press on my body, it was drawing me in with each passing second. Her ass was trying to consume me.

I yelled and screamed which seemed to get the wrong type of reaction from Daisy. Her moans were loud and her movements more aroused than before, apparently my wriggling was something pleasurable to her.

Please...

I was desperate, my end was nigh, I could feel it. I closed my eyes and gave up, there was no use resisting someone now as big as Daisy. Drawn ever closer to her waiting hole, I made peace with my end at the hands of a giantess.

#

#

#

* * *