

Pleasure pulsed in your brain, thrumming to the tune of your arousal. Your need. Your desire. But it was unfocussed, currently. You didn't know what you needed, but you know it was something. The arousal was impatient, gnawing, hungry. But you would wait.

Above all else you were obedient. Your hypnotist had made sure of that, before leaving you, blindfolded in this state. You became aware of noise, your hypnotist coming back into the room, bringing someone else with them. "Hello, pet." Your hypnotist said.

"I've brought you some prey to play with." Their tone was eager, as they removed your blindfold. You recognised the person with them, naked, just as you were. A fellow submissive. You had played together a few times. You had been wondering who your hypnotist had selected.

Right now, in this moment, that wasn't really going through your head though. All that you knew was that you desired them. You wanted to make them feel good. You wanted to use them to feel good. You wanted to feel their body on yours. "Stay, pet."

Your hypnotist's hand tapped your shoulder, and you knew that you had to stay where you were. Even as the need grew, blossoming inside you. "Come here, toy." They gestured to the other sub, and lead them to the bed, fastening them with the cuffs.

"Check in." Your hypnotist said to them. The sub looked from your hypnotist, to you, and smiled, eager.

"Green." They said.

Your hypnotist nodded, and walked back to you. "Okay pet." They squeezed your shoulder, and released it. "Take them." It was a command, and you would obey.

#erotichypnosis #microfiction #erotica #petplay #twosubmissives #lust